Solons Demand Huge Increase in Budget

NEW FIGHT OPENS ON MEASURE

Amendments Call for Additional $800,000 for Teachers' Colleges

WOULD SPEND HUGE SUM ON BUILDINGS

Both Sides Claim Victory as Result of Test Votes On Wednesday

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SACRAMENTO, April 19.—

Struggle between the administration forces and the faction attacking Governor Richardson's economy budget continued in the assembly today with amendments to teachers' college appropriations totalling over $800,000 presented during the session.

Amendments sought through amendments presented today included the following schools and amounts:

San Francisco, $500,000 for new buildings, $85,000 for new lands, $63,900 for salaries and $7,150 for support, all introduced by Morrison.

Chico $31,210, salaries, by Snyder.

Fresno $15,720 for salaries and $15,000 support, by McDowell.

San Diego $41,000 for salaries, by Mueller.

San Jose $18,240 for salaries and $17,400 for support, by McDowell.

Santa Barbara $15,000 for salaries, by Stow.

With both factions claiming one victory in yesterday's clash, the struggle today was expected to grow more pronounced.

Both the administration forces and those aligned against Governor Richardson's program gained a point during the consideration yesterday and last night—gained them by narrow margins of one vote each, polled during a tenseness greater than any which has so far featured a session of the legislature.

An amendment to the budget by Crittenden increasing the state railroad commission allowance $122,000 was defeated by a vote of 40 to 39. One by Mrs. Saylor raising the salary item of the Berkeley school for the blind $20,000 was carried 39 to 38.

It was around the railroad commission amendment that chief interest centered. Assemblymen favoring the governor's program proposed to alter the commission's budget if they could defeat proposals they could handle any further situation which might arise. But the defeat last night on the Berkeley amendment altered the whole scheme of things and brought fourth the admission that further amendments are now a possibility.

The railroad commission increase was supported on the grounds that the $122,000 additional requested was needed to support the engineering division, reduced by Governor Richardson in his budget. Opponents of the move declared the commission was amply provided for and could function effectively on the amount allowed it.

Sidelights On What Is Occupying Minds And Time of Solons

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 19.—Innovative measure abolishing the legislature and substituting in its place a council of state to be composed of fifty members is being framed by Senator Rominger and Driett for early introduction in the upper house, according to admission of the solons. The idea would include dividing California into 50 legislative districts on a basis of population. Salary of each member would be $5,000 annually, under the proposed measure. The council would meet in January of the odd years and remain in session until all business before it is handled.

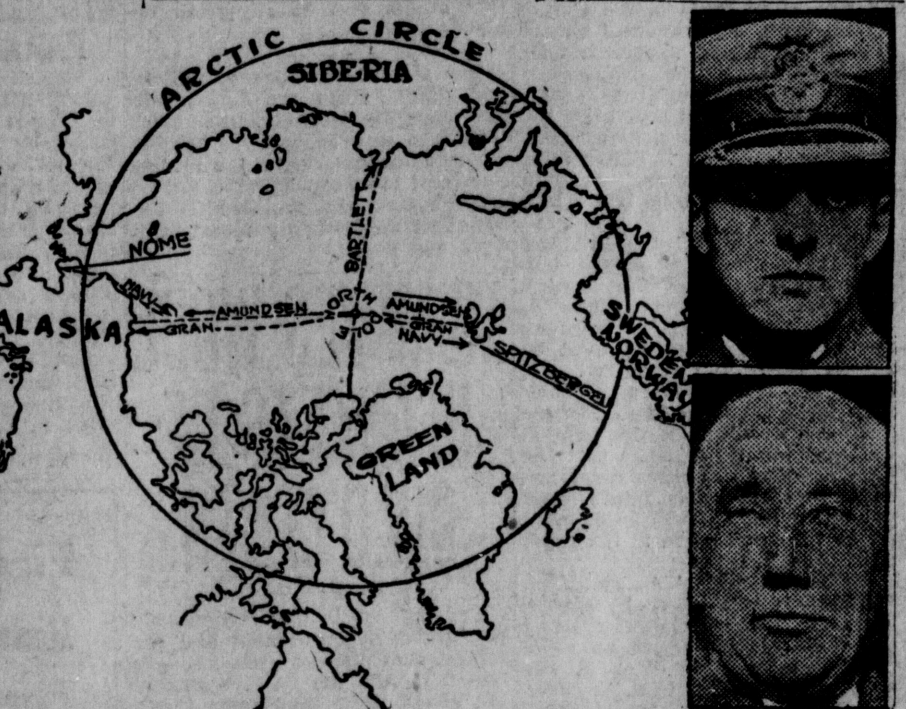

The administration budget will not be reported out by the senate finance committee until after it is disposed of in the assembly, according to announcement of Senator E. G. Gates, committee chairman.

PLANE RUSHING TO AID IN GRIP OF ICE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SELFRIDGE FIELD, Mount Clemens, Mich., April 19.—Flying a 15-horsepower Curtiss airplane, Lieutenant E. C. Whitehead hopped off early today from South Fox Island, in Northern Lake Michigan, where nine men and a woman are marooned without food.

The plane will stop at Northport, Mich., to take on supplies before making its final dash to the storm-swept island.

The party has been on the barren island for several weeks waiting for the ice in Lake Michigan to break up. When provisions became almost exhausted and in a last desperate effort at life, three of the most sturdy members launched a frail skiff in an attempt at passage to the mainland in heavy seas filled with ice.

After battling the ice floes for two hours, the frail craft was crushed and the men were forced to jump from block to block, sometimes only missing death in the icy waters by inches.

The men fought their way across the 15 miles of storm-swept wilderness and reached Northport late last night. Immediately Major Carl Spatz, commanding officer of Selfridge Field, was telephoned for assistance.

The men who reached the mainland are Edward Horn of Suttons Bay; Carl Cooper and Ellis Sayres, both of Traverse City, Mich.

LIONS 'OVER TOP' IN SERVICE DRIVE

The Lions club at its meeting at St. Ann's Inn today went "over the top" of its quota of the $4500 fund being raised here for Community Service work. Voluntary contributions were made by members, carrying pledges of monthly payments.

H. E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, who was chairman of today's program, had as the principal speaker C. E. Utt, of Tustin. Utt recounted observations made during his recent visit to Florida. He said that California and Florida would hardly be considered competitors in the marketing of oranges. He pointed out that marketing of fruit grown in the latter state is between January 1 and July 1, while California fruit is offered the year round. He declared that navel orange growers in Florida are competitors among themselves rather than competitors with navel growers in California, with the same situation obtaining in California with reference to the growing of Valencia oranges. It is his opinion that Florida is now planting ten citrus fruit trees where California is planting one.

The Harmony Four of Orange, composed of Ray Wallace, Elmer Ensign, Herbert Batterman and Chad Robinson entertained with several numbers.

GOVERNOR OUSTS OFFICIAL FOR LOBBYING

Confession of Alleged "Master Criminal" Arouses Federal Sleuth

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—William J. Burns, director of the department of justice, declared today after a conference with Herbert Wilson, convicted murderer and mail bandit, that details of Wilson's story regarding the Wall street bombing outrage dove-tailed with information already known to authorities.

"Wilson undoubtedly sold the bomb used," Burns said. "At first I was disinclined to lay much stress on Wilson's confessions, believing it was an attempt on his part to escape explanation for his crimes. The man, however, is sincere, in my opinion, judging from what he has told me and from my own knowledge of the crime."

Burns explained that the men who blew up the Wall street banking offices were members of the Third Internationale and were now in Russia. He said he knew their names.

Several more conferences between Wilson and the detective will be held here it was announced. Burns voiced his intention of checking up on every bit of information America's so-called "greatest criminal" offered.

Wilson explained to Burns how he was approached by two Russians who asked him to make the bomb, for which they paid $3,000. It was to be used, according to Wilson's understanding, in the robbery of a bank.

While Wilson related his story, Burns jotted down voluminous notes.

The crowd withdrew to a suburb and announced it would give the authorities until evening to reply.

SEIZE SUSPECT IN ALLEGED OIL FRAUD

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—E. E. Rowell, San Francisco attorney, suspected of swindling Los Angeles through alleged bogus oil leases in Utah and Colorado, is under arrest here today. He has been arraigned on two separate charges with total bail fixed at $60,000.

Deputy District Attorney Burton, in charge of the case, said today that complaints against Rowell and George S. Morion of Los Angeles have been filed by twelve prominent business men here and that loss of over $200,000 were reported.

Rowell is charged with conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses. He is said to have sold oil land leases in "Clay county," Utah, and "Pike county," Colorado, telling his asserted victims that big profits were immediately assured through contracts with the Standard Oil company.

Investigation revealed that there are no such counties on the map and that no leases or Standard Oil contracts had been obtained.

LABOR CHIEF UNDER FIRE IN ORDER

Activities on Floor of Legislature Cost Scharrenberg State Job

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 19.—Paul Scharrenberg, secretary of the state immigration and housing commission and secretary of the state federation of labor, was today removed from the immigration and housing board by official order of Governor Richardson.

Scharrenberg's asserted activities in attempting to influence legislation through lobbying was given by Governor Richardson as the reason for the dismissal.

The labor leader has been in Sacramento during most of the legislative session and his activities here are used by the governor in explanation of his action.

Governor Richardson's statement dismissing Scharrenberg follows:

"In my inaugural message I called attention to the menace to good government due to the action of state employees and members of the boards and commissions in exerting undue influence upon the members of the legislature and I promised to assist in checking objectionable lobbying."

"My attention has been called to the fact that Mr. Scharrenberg, as a member of the immigration and housing commission has been using his position as a state official to influence legislation and for that reason I am removing him from office. I particularly protest against his action in appearing before the legislature as a state official in an attempt to make building more expensive and burdensome on the people."

"Mr. Scharrenberg, if he so desires, may continue to lobby as a private citizen, but he will not be able to pose longer as a member of my official family."

The gun was heavy, and while Stewart and Officer H. S. Warner were eating dinner, the weapon was left in the pocket of their automobile. When they returned, it was missing.

"Don't say anything about it in the paper," Stewart admonished, "but from now on I'm off this metropolitan stuff. It's a jay town for mine from now on."

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—A ninety day option has been taken on San Clemente Island, lying south of Catalina Island, by Mrs. Angela Kaufman, president of the American anti-narcotic crusade, it was revealed today.

The figure set is $200,000. It is hoped to make the island, now a wild, barren spot, into a refuge for dope addicts.

Mrs. Kaufman declared today that it is hoped to raise the money by popular subscription. If the plans go through a huge hospital, costing several millions of dollars, will be built, and dope addicts from all over the country will be given the cure there.

The island is 21 miles long and 8 miles wide, and is large enough to take care of 20,000 addicts, the organization believes. Plans for lengthy treatments, extending over a period of months, for drug users of long standing are being made. It is said Patients will be given vocational training during part of their stay, according to the plans.

CALL HALT IN PRICE FIXING

Government Opens Court Fight On New York Speculators

PRESIDENT BACKS PROBE INTO PLOT

Petition Holds Fictitious Sales Cause Advance In Price

NEW YORK, April 19.—Following announcement of the government suit against the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, quotations of future options fell precipitately. The drop was due, it is said to the heavy liquidation brought in by the announcement that the suit had been filed. Spot sugar, however, found no easier level. Cuban raws jumped to a new high for the year at 67-8 cents. Futures dropped 30 to 73 points from the opening.

(By United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The department of justice today filed in the United States court in New York a petition in equity against the New York coffee and sugar exchange, and the New York coffee and sugar clearing association, Inc., in which the court was asked to enjoin the defendants from "further engaging in and carrying out in the United States a combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade and commerce in raw and refined sugar."

The government's action was announced today by Acting Attorney General Seymour.

The petition charged that as a result of fictitious transactions carried out by the defendants, the price of raw sugar in this country and the price of refined sugar to the consumer has been increased since February 7, on an average of more than $2 per hundred pounds.

Held Unlawful Act.

It further charges that "these speculative operations carried on for the purpose of and with the intent of unduly enhancing the price of both raw and refined sugar and which have accomplished that object, constitute an unlawful combination and conspiracy in restraint of interstate and foreign trade and commerce."

The petition asks that the defendants be perpetually enjoined from entering into or permitting to be entered into any transaction on the exchange or elsewhere involving the purchase, sale and delivery of sugar unless the person purporting to make such sale has in his possession or under his control a supply of sugar adequate to meet the requirements of such transaction. It further asks that the exchange and the association be perpetually enjoined from in any manner publishing or making public any price of sugar established by transactions on the exchange.

Illegal Gambling.

The government informed the court that the exchange and the association "served no legitimate or useful purpose in the marketing of raw or refined sugar. They exist only as a means of contracting and speaking in reference to supplies of sugar which in many cases do not exist and for the purpose of manipulating the price of raw and refined sugar without regard to conditions actually obtaining in the industry and regardless of the law of supply and demand and solely for illegitimate gambling, speculative profits and the enrichment of the parties to such operations and frequently to the injury and detriment of those actually engaged in the business of producing and refining sugar and at all times to the serious injury of the consuming public."

Rectifying figures of sugar production during the last year and summarizing actual sugar trade conditions between February 1 and the present, the petition stated "there existed during this period no economic justification for a sudden or appreciable increase in the price of raw or refined sugar or for any increase."

Orgy of Speculation.

Since February 7, the petition alleged, "an orgy of speculation in raw sugar has been indulged in through the instrumentality of the

FAKE WAR VETERAN SOCIETIES TO BE ROUTED

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Spurious war veterans' organizations and publications preying upon the sympathies of the American public are to be driven out of existence by the combined forces of the Justice and Postoffice departments, it was learned here today.

Aggressive investigations by the two departments in the last few months with the aid of commercial and advertising organizations have practically completed the chain of evidence necessary to federal prosecution. A quick cleanup campaign with many arrests is imminent.

Efforts to stop the practices of bogus stock salesmen, certain publications and organizations, who ply a fertile soliciting trade among disabled war veterans located in government hospitals, will be made by the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, it was announced here yesterday by Captain C. Hamilton Cook of Buffalo, N. Y., national commander, upon his arrival at the Hotel St. Francis.

Nation Surveyed
Captain Cook is engaged in making a national survey of all schools and hospitals for veterans, not with the idea of criticizing the government, in which, he states, his organization has never lost faith, but to improve the service and protection given to disabled soldiers. Cases of waste and extravagance have been probed, he says, and evidences of graft will be turned over to the department of justice.

"While the men are in government hospitals," explained Captain Cook, "they are on the regular hospital pay roll. This makes them easy prey for money sharks of every description. We are particularly anxious to protect them from copper stock and oil stock salesmen, the worst parasites of all."
"I am not ready to reveal any specific instances, but the evidence is in my hands of number-ous cases of exploitation and the matter is to be taken up at Washington. We are trying to inculcate the spirit of thrift among the men.
This lure of promising investments —mostly fake—is our biggest obstacle."

Bootleggers Exploit Vets
Captain Cook reported that bootleggers and peddlers are also very active in their trade among the disabled veterans. The conditions thus brought about are so serious in some cases, he said, that the government will be asked to provide special hospitals where the veterans can be sent and cured.

Among the improvements in the present system of vocational training which are being sought by the organization, according to the veterans' chief, are the placement of men in educational institutions recognized nationally, and the lengthening of certain professional courses.

"We hope to obtain from the president an executive order permitting the United States veterans' bureau to grant additional specialized training so that the men can take a qualified examination before assuming their place in civil life," he said. "We ask the employers to co-operate with us in giving the men opportunity for jobs."

Nerve Cases Numerous
"We are seeking a reasonable compensation for the men who have reached the maximum of physical improvement in the hospitals but are not fitted to take up any vocational training. Of the 25,000 veterans in government hospitals the greatest proportion of them are suffering from either tuberculosis or nerve diseases, the two the medical profession knows the least about."

"We hope shortly to make a plea to congress to appropriate money for the establishment of medical schools in which these diseases can be properly studied."

Veterans to Geneva
Captain Cook announced that delegates will be sent to the conference at Geneva in July at which representatives of disabled veterans' organizations of every country will be present. The three-fold object of the conference is to study conditions which produce war, establish a universal system of service to disabled veterans and to attempt a solution to the present European middle.

Captain Cook conferred with members of the board of supervisors here yesterday afternoon. Today he will visit the government hospitals at San Jose, Palo Alto and Oakland, and tomorrow the Letterman, Marine and St. Luke's hospitals in this city. A conference with officials of the local organization has also been arranged. Thursday night he will be the guest of honor at a public banquet at the Hotel St. Francis.

HARTFORD, April 19.—Owners

this state this summer will be subject to a $100 fine or ten days jailing, or both, if a bill reported out of the house judiciary committee becomes law.

Legislative Clerk of Bills Bal-win believes the bill unconstitutional.
It bears the following memorandum by him: "Examined and in the opinion of the undersigned correct as to form, free from repetitions, accurate in text and not inconsistent, but of doubtful constitutional provisions in the second section."

The bill is said to have been sponsored by farmers. It is expected to pass the house tomorrow, but it is thought the senate will reject it.

Canada's parliament has requested that no more British titles be conferred upon Canadians.

CABIN BOYS PAID MORE THAN CAPTAIN

VICTORIA, B. C., April 19.—Joe Herman, 15-year-old boy, has shipped from this port on the German freighter, Hans Hemson, at double the salary of the skipper under whom he will serve. A $20 a month salary, approximately $200 marks will be paid to the boy in Canadian exchange, while the captain will draw 400,000 marks on the German exchange. According to members of the crew, the captain is considered an unusually well-paid skipper.

SUMMER STYLES ARE DECREED BY PARIS

PARIS, April 19.—Summer models are upon us before women have had scarcely time enough to think of spring ones.

Paris designers are beginning to bring forth their summer collections, which are delighting all the early foreign visitors. There is something to fit everyone and if a woman is not beautiful these days it is her own fault.

One has only to decide what style suits her particular kind of beauty and the battle is won. There are narrow skirts, semi-narrow ones and very wide ones. There are short skirts, medium length and long ones. Sleeves are short or long, wide or tight. One has only to seek and choose.

The silhouette is still straight, but with many variations. The tendency, however, is always toward long, slender lines, which are as admirable in soft crepes and volles as in the crisp mohair or muslins.

Black is extensively used for street and afternoon gowns. They usually come with a dash of white or color about the neck and sleeves.

Sumptuous materials are combined in the evening cloaks, which are elegant enough for Cleopatra.
Satin and reps, and crepe de chine of all kinds are still popular.
Faisley effects and Persian colors are giving place to more subdued materials, although the opening days of the races seem to suggest that King Tut styles are likely to persist.

SEARCH FOR HEIRS OF HOSPITAL BABY

NEW YORK, April 19.—Boy, page the Martin family!

The New York Nursery and Child's hospital, 161 West Sixty-first street, desires to communicate with the descendants, if any, of the first child born at its ancestor institution, the New York Asylum for Lying-in Women. Hospital officials do not know the name, sex or age of the infant, the records merely showing it was born to Mrs. Catherine Martin, wife of John G. Martin, a weaver, on or about November 21, 1823.

The progeny, sought in an "information wanted" advertisement in a New York paper, are wanted to take part in the hospital's centennial celebration April 29. The oldest living person born at the Lying-in asylum is wanted to speak then.

PORTLAND ARRESTS 2422 IN MONTH

PORTLAND, April 19.—The number of women arrested in Portland forms but a small percentage of the law-breaking total hailed before the bar of justice each month, according to police records.

During March the police arrested 2422 persons, 115 of whom were of the gentler—but some say fiercer—sex of law-breakers. Arrests for drunkenness totaled 282, most of them "moonbeams"; 23 got disorderly as well as drunk, and 131 were pinched for the more elite breach known as "violation of the prohibition law."

Traffic and automobile accidents and breaches of the traffic code, most of them of a very minor character, contributed to the bulk of causes for arrest. Foreign-born persons arrested totaled 546 and minors, both domestic and imported, numbered 242, of whom nine were girls.

MUSICAL PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN AT CHURCH

The Musical Dilthey family will give an entertainment at the First Methodist church tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock. The Rev. J. H.
Hughes, assistant pastor of the church, announced today.

In addition to a great many instrumental numbers, the program will include humorous readings, vocal solos and duets.

The family consists of Mr. and Mrs. E. Dilthey, Misses Elva and Estelle and Master Gene, the latter being but 8 years old. He has been appearing in public since he was 3 years old, according to the Rev.
Mr. Hughes. Instruments played by the family comprise piano, violin, trombone, saxophone, clarinet, xylophone and traps. The repertoire provides a great variation, from classics to the less classical but even more popular music of the present.

There will be no charge for admission, but a silver collection will be taken.

Rifle ammunition destroyed since the armistice amounts to 392 million rounds.

The River Thames, in England, starts with seven tiny rills, which are four miles from Cheltenham.

exchange and clearing association.
Enormous quantities of sugar have been the subject of fictitious sales."

The petition was drafted by Attorney General Daugherty, who is in Asheville, N. C., after conference with acting Attorney General Seymour, and the suit was filed after the entire matter had been laid before President Harding and his cabinet.

More than two months ago when the price of sugar began to fluctuate, Daugherty directed a careful investigation be made by department of justice agents with a view of fixing responsibility for what then appeared to be unjustified manipulations of the sugar market.

Seymour, who has conducted the inquiry not only caused the investigation to be made in the United States, but had government agents visit Cuba, where important data was secured.

When evidence of conclusive nature was in hand, Seymour laid it before Daugherty. He, after studying the situation, directed the whole matter to be laid before the president.

Seymour attended the last two cabinet meetings, where he outlined the results of the inquiry.
He suggested the course taken today. The final form of the petition filed today was approved by President Harding yesterday.

The suit is founded on the Sherman anti-trust law and the Wilson tariff act of 1894. It was said at the department of justice that the decision of the supreme court last week that the grain futures act was constitutional will be of great aid to the prosecution in the sugar case.

Plan Criminal Action.
Attention was called by department of justice officials to the fact that the petition shows no relief from speculation to date. It was stated by a high official, however, that "we now have under consideration the question as to whether we have the right to seek the court to annul all these fictitious contracts and prohibit any payments on their settlement between the parties to those contracts. We now believe the court has the power to grant this relief and when we are sure such a request is justified we will make our request."

With the filing of today's civil action, attention of the department will be turned to the question whether criminal action can be brought. Seymour declared the criminal prosecutions were under consideration but that he was unable to say what will be done.

He indicated, however, that a decision will be reached next week.

PLANES TO LAND IN HEART OF LONDON

LONDON, April 19.—Access to the heart of London for passenger-carrying airplanes is about to become a fact.

The broad bosom of the River Thames at Westminster bridge, in the shadow of the house of parliament, is the chosen site. In line with England's policy of subsidy for private air lines the civil aviation department of the air ministry conducted the investigations that resulted in the choice of the Westminster site.

The establishment of the river station is but the first step in a plan to extend landing facilities to the heart of England's capital.
Temporarily it will be necessary to equip the machines with dual landing apparatus suitable for both land and water.

Once the water station is finished, along with its complementary relief station farther out, it will be used in case of dense fog, work will be started on an exclusive land station.

Construction of these two mammoth landing projects is but another bid for English air supremacy, already marked out by the advent of great passenger-carrying air liners that come and go with the regularity of trains.

Inland air traffic will profit most by the use of the new stations. A journey now requiring four hours by rail can be accomplished by less in the air, but is encumbered by land passage at either end of the route in reaching the air ports involved. With these now necessary changes of vehicles eliminated the demand for speed will put inland traffic in its rightful place.

SAFETY RECORD IS ESTABLISHED BY R. R.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 18.—The Great Northern railway has established a new record for safeguarding human life. The rail lines carried approximately 36, 000,000 passengers in the last five years without killing a single soul. C. L. La Fontaine, general safety supervisor of the Great Northern railway, attributes this unusual record of his road to improvements in safety devices, coupled with the growing carefulness of trainmen and the public itself.

Extending about a mile, 3,000 mourners were present at a funeral in Derbyshire, England, recently.

SOLONS DEMAND BIG INCREASE IN BUDGET

man. Senator Gates declared that possible assembly amendments would necessitate the bill being referred to the senate committee if it is reported out in advance of assembly disposition.

The senate late yesterday passed a dozen bills placing country roads in different parts of the state under the state highway system. The measures had already passed the assembly. Governor Richardson has announced that he will veto all such bills.

The assembly motor vehicle committee will tonight consider further the Breed motor vehicle bill. The measure was discussed Tuesday night and subjected to some minor amendments, with the possibility that others will be suggested tonight.

The senate insurance committee last night tabled the Inman bill providing for state supervision of insurance ratings and forbidding contracts in violation of the federal anti-trust law. An attempt will be made to put the proposal on the ballot as an initiatory measure, it was announced.

MUMMIES WORE BLANKETS OF GOLD CLOTH

ROME, April 17.—The opening of Tut-ankh-Amen's tomb and the theory, confirmed by countless discoveries, that the royal tombs of the pre-Christian and early Christian eras are apt to hold all the personal effects of the deceased or, at least, those effects which were inherent in his rank, have revived the debate whether or not the subsoil of Rome has been thoroughly explored.

Many believe a systematic search would lead up to the discovery of many sarcophagi, whose contents would easily eclipse, from the point of view of their intrinsic and artistic value, those found even in the richest of Egyptian tombs.

Local archaeologists believe that,
aside from certain historical spots, the local underground has never been explored, and that what has been found, was due more to accident than to the expressed purpose of the explorer.

Professor Ermanno Ponté says that while it would be useless to search for the tombs of the Roman patricians and pagan emperors, as their bodies were invariably burned, yet Rome has at least one unexplored necropolis, located nearby St. Peter's, which was the mausoleum of all the Christian em-perors and empresses of Rome, who succeeded Constantine, including Theodosius the Great, Theodorus II, Empress Galla Placidia, Augusta, Honorius and probably Valentinian III. Side by side to them were buried their wives.

There is no record showing that these tombs were ever opened. The mausoleum was torn down to make room for a wing of the present church, but the tombs were left unmolested.

Treasures in Tomb
To give an idea of what may be found in them, Professor Ponté quotes a chronicler of the year 1453, concerning the opening of a marble sarcophagus containing two unidentified bodies brought to light while digging a grave for a dead prelate. Inside the marble sarco-phagus there was a wooden coffin lined with silver, which when melted netted about 332 pounds of silver. The bodies were wrapped in a gold blanket, which the Pope also sent to the mint. It yielded about thirty American pounds of gold.

But a list of what was found in the tomb of Empress Mary, Honorius' wife, and a daughter of the Roman general Stilicon, will give a definite idea of what the tombs of the Christian emperors of Rome would yield. The tomb came accidentally to light in 1544, and when the sarcophagus of red Egyptian granite was opened, the prelates and the officials of the pontifical court, as a chronicler says, stood amazed at the sight it offered, hardly believing their own eyes.

Blankets of Gold
The body of the empress was clad in a red gown, while gold embroided blankets covered her face and breast. Side by side to the body there lay a silver box containing thirty small cases of crystal, agate and other stones, and four of gold. Besides, there were two cups and an oil lamp of gold.
A second box lined with gilded silver contained, according to the chronicler, fifteen rings, a number of earrings, small crosses, collars, buttons, needles and a small gold ball which opened like a nut. Every article was of gold and of the most exquisite workmanship, studded with emeralds, pearls and other precious stones. Among the stones there was a carved one, which bore the likeness of Honor-ius and which was sold for 500 gold ducats.

The only piece of jewelry saved and still in existence was a large brooch bearing the name of Mary and Honorius. Three hundred years later Margus Trivulsi purchased it for the Milan Museum.
Professor Ponté says that if the Vatican gave the necessary permission for a careful search of the mausoleum's underground, a number of tombs would be unearthed that would probably yield even richer treasures.

Women electors in the Wandsworth district of London outnumber the 70,000 men by 6,000.

REGISTRATIONS FROM 22 STATES RECEIVED FOR TRADE MEETING

NEW ORLEANS, April 19.—
With registrations already received from 21 states and two foreign countries, plans for the New Orleans foreign trade convention, May 2, 3 and 4, are rapidly taking shape.

Emphasis will be laid on the importance of European markets to American foreign trade and prosperity. The opening session of the convention will consider a report on "European Conditions Today," specially prepared for this meeting by a committee of the national foreign trade council.

In this same session, Dr. Jeremiah W. Jenks, Alexander Hamilton institute, will discuss "European Progress During the Year."
Some of the barriers encountered in trading with Europe will be described by W. F. Gephart, First National bank of St. Louis; while methods of trading under abnormal conditions and in the face of depressed exchange, will be outlined by A. C. Kains, president of the Federal International Banking company, New Orleans.

SCHOOL HEAD IS 'MARBLES BROKER'

GALTAIN, Mo., April 19.—No only does L. A. Hosman, superintendent of the Gallatin public schools, believe that it is all right and highly beneficial to children to play marbles, but he also plays at the age-old spring pastime himself.
He is a marble "broker."

Since marble season began it is not an uncommon sight to see Hosman at one of the school's play grounds, mingling and "shooting" marbles with several two-headed youths.

One morning recently while the superintendent was in conference with several teachers, a lot of years tugged at his coat and said:
"Mr. Hosman, buy this agate."

"I'm not in the market for agate today," the superintendent responded.

"Well, buy these," pulling out several crockeries. "What'll you pay?"

"A nickel for 10."

Five pennies were counted out in Hosman's palm and the deal was made.

"The previous bond issue was not enough. Another $20,000 issue will be voted."

Twice a month honey market prices will be broadcast to all beehives of Orange county by the Orange county farm bureau. Edwin F. Whedon, secretary manager of the bureau, said today: "In an effort to stabilize the honey market, we will in future notify all beehive owners of the prices being quoted in order that they may make their schedules in accordance. At present so many of the beehive owners are separated from the markets that extreme prices are quoted, causing an upset of the entire situation."

The Santa Ana board of education made a tour of inspection of the city schools today. The new board, composed of Alex Brownridge, president; Frank L. Andrews, secretary; Dr. Roy Horton, Marshall Keeler, and Charles F. Smith, spent a portion of the time at the site of the new junior high school.

THE "special discount" is tempting, but not when you understand who pays for it. The tire dealer doesn't pay for it. The manufacturer cannot afford to. Chances are it comes out of the quality of the tire, so, after all, you pay for it. None of the quality of Goodyear Tires ever is sacrificed to "special discounts" or anything else.

As Goodyear Service Stations dealers are sold and recommended Goodyear tires back them up with standard Goodyear Service.

GOOD YEAR

U. S. SENATOR IN MAGAZINE LIMELIGHT

Readers of "Who's Who and Why" in this week's issue of The Saturday Evening Post will notice that United States Senator Couzens of Michigan, whose father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Couzens, are staying at St. Ann's Inn here this week, is the subject of the leading article.

Sensor Couzens, the article declares, has been a fighter from his earliest days. He made his money by being one of the first stockholders in the Ford automobile company, and since has been raising his millions of dollars to good purpose, it says.

The article recalls the swathe that Couzens cut in the street railway battle of Detroit when he was mayor of that city. It was necessary to build the municipal tracks across the private street railway tracks, according to the story.

The private owners were not expected to give permission for this crossing of their tracks. Couzens therefore took a crew of men and a squad of policemen to the crossing and began work, while the opposition rushed to court to get out an injunction against the city's high handed methods.

When the owner's agent came to serve the injunction, Couzens sound of policemen kidnapped him and held him until the following day when the work was completed.

With the crossing in, Couzens was satisfied to fight the owners in court.

RAILROADS HELD ON VERGE OF BEST YEAR IN HISTORY

WASHINGTON, April 19.—That vision of the American railways as a ragged beggar, passing his hat for alms, is about due now to fade out of the picture.

For, unless signs fail and official reports reaching Washington are to be disregarded, the railways will break all freight traffic records in 1923. When traffic slumped in 1921, following the high level attained in that year, it fell to the lowest point since 1910 at the earliest would traffic stage a complete comeback. During the first nine weeks of 1923, however, the railways actually handled 570,000 more carloads of freight than during the corresponding period of 1920. If this increase is maintained through the year, the loadings will top those of 1920 by nearly 3,000,000 cars.

But will the increase be maintained? Indications point to a record-breaking traffic through the spring and summer months, with the possibility of some slowdown in the fall. Even so, it appears likely that the year 1923 will surpass the record of 1920 by an appreciable margin.

The problem before the railways today is to furnish the transportation adequate to meet this traffic demand. A year ago nearly 500,000 idle freight cars were standing on sidetracks waiting for freight that did not offer itself; today there are only 20,000 idle cars. The whole of the railway plant is now functioning. On the other hand, the demand for freight cars in excess of the available supply is less than half what it was in October, 1922. Indicating that the railways now meeting shippers' needs more promptly than during the strenuous weeks following the settlement of the coal strike.

Getting Equipment In Shape

In addition, the railways are whipping their equipment into shape to meet the heavy demands of the next few months. They have speeded up repairs to their cars and in better physical condition than for two years. The number of cars in need of repair has decreased 188,000 since August and the percentage has fallen from more than 15 per cent to only 9 per cent. The number of unserviceable locomotives has been reduced by 4600 or from 31 to 24 per cent. This improvement is equivalent to adding 4500 new locomotives and 138,000 new freight cars to railway facilities. That further efforts will be made to increase the serviceability of railway equipment seems reasonably certain.

Not only are the railways improving the physical condition of their equipment, but are adding new stock daily. In 1922 they placed orders for more equipment than in any year since 1916. During the first two months of 1923, daily orders for new equipment averaged fifteen locomotives, 350 freight cars and eleven passenger cars. Locomotive orders were placed at twice the rate of 1922, and the equipment construction plants are booked for months ahead. Many of the locomotives and cars ordered in 1922 have already been delivered, and the equipment is now in active service, while deliveries in quantity are being made every day. If a shortage of cars develops this summer, it will occur in spite of these efforts to prepare for heavy traffic.

Show Increased Earnings

With the increased traffic of 1923, the railways should experience an improvement in net income. In 1920, notwithstanding the heavy business of that year, they earned no net income whatever, and were saved from bankruptcy only by a government guarantee.

At a meeting of the exhibit and show committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, tentative plans were discussed for an exhibit at the California Valencia Orange Show at Anaheim.

ALLEGED OTHER MEN CITED IN MAN'S SUIT

Asserting that his wife, Marie Krieger, went out with other men, John Krieger today had on file here a suit for divorce from her. Mrs. Krieger frequently remained away all night, the complaint recited.

In spite of her asserted actions, she was unduly jealous and frequently accused him of intimacy with other women, according to the complaint.

They were married in Denver, July 8, 1918, and separated March 1 of this year.

Attorney James L. Allen drew up the complaint for Krieger.

POPULAR MUSIC TO FEATURE AIR BILL

Grigsby's Symphony Seven will offer an orchestral program over KFAW tonight from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock. Originally, the Brea Chamber of Commerce was scheduled to give tonight's radio entertainment, but postponement was requested until some later date.

The Symphony Seven is not to be confounded with Grigsby's Symphony Orchestra which gave a program at KFAW two weeks ago. It is an entirely different organization, but under Grigsby's management. Popular music will make up tonight's entertainment for The Register's army of radio fans.

NEBRASKA FIRE

WYMORE, Neb., April 17.—Fire of unknown origin caused a total loss estimated at over $7500 early Monday morning, when the frame building housing the William Middleton general store at Liberty was burned to the ground. The roof of the Liberty Implement company's building, adjacent, was badly burned, and the entire side of the street was threatened for a time. The store building, valued at $1500, and the $5500 stock of groceries and dry goods which belonged to William Middleton, is a complete loss, with a small amount of insurance.

TOWN IS SAVED

GEYSER, Mont., April 17.—A truck full of nitro glycerine, reached this place bound for the oil wells. As it came down the main street a wheel rolled off. Just then an officer arrested the truck driver for violating the speed ordinance. When the driver explained the nature of his load there was a stampede, but fortunately the truck did not tip and the town was saved.

CITY IN 17 YEARS

GARY, Ind., April 17.—The city of Gary is 17 years old. Seventeen years ago three civil engineers—R. E. Rowley, Col. A. F. Melton and Maj. Thomas H. Culler—invented the barren sand waste with surveying instruments and a bundle of stakes. Today the city of 60,000 inhabitants occupies the spot. Two of the three engineers are still residents of the city.

Several of the United States owe Great Britain sums of money amounting to $60,000,000. In all, these loans were contracted from 40 to 70 years ago.

during eight months of the year. In 1921, their financial condition improved to the extent that the roads earned 31.3 per cent on their property value. This rate of return rose to 4.14 per cent in 1922. In January of this year the rate stood at 5.54 per cent or within reach of the 5.34 per cent fixed by the Interstate Commerce commission as a fair return. February and March returns, when complete, will probably show a return as high, if not higher. For the year as a whole, the railways should earn close to the fair return, and may even surpass it. A year ago this prediction would have seemed but an idle dream.

"Had a cough and wheezing in my throat," writes Caroline Dillard, Petersburg, Va. "Foley's Honey and Tar gave me quick relief and stopped my cough." Three generations of satisfied users have made Foley's Honey and Tar the largest selling cough medicine in the world. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

COAL STRIKES DON'T WORRY HENRY FORD

DETROIT, April 16.—Coal strikes of the future will not retard manufacture of Ford products, under plans already adopted by Henry Ford.

Coal properties, acquired during the past two years by the Ford Motor company, have been placed under direction of the Fordson Coal company, recently incorporated under the laws of Delaware. These properties, according to a conservative estimate of Ford engineers, consist of a coal reserve of about 600,000,000 tons and about 70,000,000 feet of timber. The largest timber holdings were obtained with the purchase of the Peabody coal lands in Southern Kentucky, where, it is estimated, there is about 500,000,000 feet.

Orders for the construction of more than 1000 coal cars of fifty-five tons capacity already have been issued by the new company. These cars will be operated directly between the Ford mines and automobile plants over Mr. Ford's railroad, the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton.

The recent purchases of the coal and timber lands is in accordance with Mr. Ford's plans to gain control of every step of manufacture, from the basic raw material to the delivery of the finished product, and thereby gain the highest quality at the minimum production cost.

Among the first coal properties purchased by the Ford Motor company were the Dexcar coal mines at Twin Branch, W. Va. This property was bought last November and thereby gave the company nearly 18,000,000 tons of high quality coal, adaptable to both by-product and steam purposes. These mines employ about 450 men and have a daily capacity of about 2000 tons.

Next, the Ford company purchased the Pond Creek properties in Eastern Kentucky, near Williamson, W. Va. It is estimated there are about 300,000,000 tons of available coal at these mines, which are operated through eleven openings. About 7000 tons of coal are produced daily at these mines, by about 1000 men.

Purchase of the Banner Fork mine added about 12,000,000 tons of high volatile by-product coking coal to the company's interests. This mine employs about 400 men and has a daily production of 3000 tons. The Nuttallburg mine at Nuttallburg, W. Va., now owned by Ford, has a daily production of 1000 tons and employs about 250 men.

It is estimated that the Peabody coal lands have about 200,000,000 tons of coal. They will soon be developed, was announced.

Wage Scale High

The Ford wage scale has been placed in effect in all mines, with the result that the men are earning about 25 per cent more than they were before the properties were acquired by the automobile manufacturer. The properties have been placed upon the same high basis of efficiency, safety and sanitation that prevails in all of the Ford plants.

If more coal is produced by the Ford properties than can be consumed at the manufacturing plants, it will be sold directly to the public, it was announced.

BOOZE CASE MAN IS RELEASED ON BOND

Peter Alland, Anaheim rancher, arrested Tuesday afternoon on charges of illegal possession and manufacture of liquor, was free today under $1,000 bond for his appearance before Justice J. B. Cox May 21 at 10 a. m. for preliminary hearing.

Alland was arrested when a squad of deputy sheriffs raided his residence outside of Anaheim, and seized 200 gallons of wine.

MAN'S DEBALT IN DIVORCE SURPRISE

Surprising spectators and court attaches, who had expected the revelation of sensational details in the divorce action of Jane Smith against John D. Smith, tried before W. F. Menton, judge pro tem in department 1 of the superior court today, the defendant defaulted, and an interlocutory decree was granted to the plaintiff.

After a first complaint had been amended, upon permission from the court, Mrs. Smith testified regarding her husband's alleged failure to provide for her. Her story was substantiated by Grace Wright of Anaheim, who said that she had loaned clothing to the plaintiff.

Attorney Clyde Bishop, representing Smith, asked the witnesses no questions, and failed to place Smith on the stand.

In the complaint, Mrs. Smith had asserted that her husband was unduly jealous. He, in an answer, had charged her with intimacy with other men, and had cited several, mentioning their names.

None of these alleged facts were brought out today, however, and Judge Menton granted the decree shortly before noon.

CITY MANAGER MEET MAY BE HELD SOON

Meeting of the civic affairs committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce with a committee of opponents of the charter may be held in the immediate future to decide whether a petition should be circulated asking the city council to try the city manager form of government, O. H. Barr, chairman of the civic affairs committee, stated today.

The latter committee was authorized by directors of the Chamber yesterday to call a joint meeting of the two committees for discussion of the proposition, provided the opposition is willing to join in the activity.

Barr has just been made chairman of the civic affairs committee and was not officially advised until today of the action taken by the directors yesterday.

Barr said that he was not in position to name a date for the contemplated meeting, and intimated that sentiment of the opposition committee would be obtained before the call for the joint meeting is issued.

SHERIFF PREVENTS BOLD ESCAPE PLOT

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—Four convicts were on their way back to San Quentin today after their ingenious plot to escape was frustrated by Sheriff Traeger here.

The prisoners, E. A. McNab, G. W. Caves, William Edwards and R. M. Hinz, were brought here by defense attorneys in the Dabulich "diamond murder" trial, after they had informed prison officials that they could offer important testimony.

A letter written by one of the convicts to a pal was intercepted yesterday by the sheriff. It revealed the fact that the quartet had framed the testimony in order to have a pretext to get out of prison. They intended to make a dash for liberty either in the Los Angeles court room or on the trip back to the penitentiary.

LOCAL LIBRARY ADDS BOOK ON TURK WOMEN

Vividly portraying the Turkish woman of today with her uplifted veil, her love, her hates and her chance for advancement in this country of much interest, "The Unveiled Ladies of Stamboul," has proven one of the most interesting of the new books added to the Santa Ana public library, according to Miss Jeanette McFadden, librarian.

The book was written by Demetra Vaka, who, although Turkish-born, now looks on the women of her native country through American eyes.

Other recent additions to the local library, with the publisher's comment on each, follow:

"Magic Flame and Other Poems" by Robert H. Schaeffer, has passion, virility and restrained ardor. It is written from the heart and expresses man's reaction to the joys and tragedies of life.

"Books of Games and Parties," by T. H. Wolcott.

"Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," is a charming actress who sets a quiet family agog when she goes down from London to visit them.

Irvin Cobb's Memoirs "Stickful," contains compositions of a newspaper minion. It is a look in on the memoirs of Irvin Cobb.

"The Silent Sex," by May Isabel Fisk. These mologues are exactly what is meant by the term "food for fun." The least you can look forward to in reading them is to chuckle, if you are alone, to shout "just listen to this," if you are with friends, and roar together.

"Auction Bridge in Ten Lessons," by Ella G. Pimm, is a complete and interesting course on auction bridge with illustrations of play and the latest rules. The author is one of the best known professional teachers.

"A Thousand Ways to Please a Family," by L. B. Weaver, is a book no mother or housewife can afford to miss reading. Full of delicious recipes for "four or more," and slightly different dishes that require only inexpensive ingredients.

"The Immigrant's Day in Court," by K. H. Claghorn. The purpose of this book is to give a clear idea of the conditions as they actually exist, to follow the immigrant from the port of entry, through his troubles and to see how the court treats him.

"The Little Garden," by Mrs. Francis King, is a straightforward, entertaining description of what can be done in beautifying the small place with appropriate plants, vines and ornaments.

Americans Discussed "Americans," by Stuart P. Sherman, discusses certain individuals in the light of America's vital tradition so that this group of studies is full of depth and meaning as a comment upon American civilization.

"Place of Science in Modern Civilization," by Thorstein Veblen, is a collection of papers published in various economic and sociological periodicals during the past twenty years. Each is of the first importance to the rapidly growing group of thinkers to whom Veblen's every utterance counts.

"Designs for American Homes," by H. G. Outwater. For those who plan to build, this book is worth reading. Every plan will work. The designs are typically American, studied to meet the requirements of the American home.

"Producing in Little Theaters," by Clarence Stratton. This should appeal to all intelligent theater lovers. It considers the sensibilities of players and how they can be tactfully handled. Stratton urges lovely and appropriate settings and shows how inexpensively they can be made. He also includes lists of full length and one-act plays.

"Development of the American Short Story," by F. L. Pattee, is the first attempt at a definition study of the one literary form America has given to the world. The short story is an inevitable evolution brought about by unique conditions during a century.

Informal but delightful was a little noonday meeting of the Athena club recently at the high school gymnasium when Joy Palmer Leitch appeared in a new dance created with McDowell's "Rigdon" as its theme and musical setting.

Dozens of interested young girls gathered at the gymnasium for the event while a few visitors also joined the group which had Miss M. Birdenla Henry, faculty advisor, present also.

With Mrs. Parkinson at the piano, Miss Leitch made her entry in a clever little white satin suit, unique in its severity and noticeably lacking the pompos and bouffant effect of a Pierrette suit.

The grace and poise of the young dancer was exhibited to perfection in the dance, a marvel of gaiety and impudence of youth and joy incarnate.

Utah Guest Honored At Pleasant Affair Given By Mrs. Barger

Honoring her cousin, Mrs. George Rogers of Milford, Utah, who is a winter visitor in Santa Ana, Mrs. Ernest B. Barger entertained delightfully yesterday afternoon at her home, 1077 West Seventh street.

Guests chatted informally over their needlework during the afternoon while a number of interesting features presented in an impromptu manner added to the pleasure. These included a group of highly diverting readings by Mrs. Joan Bates Jr., while vocal numbers were given by Mrs. J. S. Thurston of Laguna, and also by the hostess, Mrs. Barger.

The presence of Mrs. Glenn Tidball with her tiny baby was an added pleasure.

At the tea hour, Mrs. Barger, assisted by Mrs. Lloyd Tucker served a delectable menu which harmonized in color scheme with the clusters of golden Scotch broom and California poppies adorning the pretty home.

Dainty posies decked trays whereon were arranged yellow-iced individual cakes, yellow and white Neapolitan ice cream, bonbons and salted nuts in colorful little baskets.

Enjoying the happy affair were Mesdames John Sauters, Glenn Tidball, Stanley Clem, H. A. Harrison, Eugene Reif, E. T. Brannon, J. S. Thurston, Elwood Bear, Lloyd Tucker, Ernest Layton, John W. Bates Jr., J. Raymond Mayer, Marie Taylor and John Dancer of Capistrano, in addition to the honored guest, Mrs. George Rogers.

Quiet Wedding At Christian Church

At a quiet wedding attended by only a few intimate relatives, Miss Anna A. Sinn yesterday became the bride of William H. Smith with the ceremony being performed by the Rev. F. T. Porter at the First Christian church.

The bride was formerly from Iowa, while the groom, a Kansas man, first came to Santa Ana in 1901, later returning to the Kansas home of his parents. Four years ago he returned to Santa Ana with his mother, following the death of his father, and has since resided here where he is a popular employee of the city water works department.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home temporarily with Mr. Smith's mother and brother, Robert L. Smith, 629 East Second street while they await the completion of their own new home on Pomona street, the McFadden tract.

Dispensing with their usual routine of business, members of the Security Benefit association last night offered a pleasing hospitality to their friends at M. W. A. hall where an entertaining program gave wings to the evening.

Delphian Society

The association quaffed, Mesdames Bennett, E. B. Briggs, Clara B. Wetherbee and Miss Pearl Hayes sang Irish songs after which L. A. Sweet gave a logical talk on duties owed one's family and the necessity of protection by insurance, particularly recommending fraternal insurance.

"Fraternity" was the theme of a talk by G. H. Scott, ex-city attorney who declared that next to the Fatherhood of God was brotherhood of man, which meant fraternity.

Added features were interesting readings by Mrs. John Bates Jr., Mrs. E. B. Briggs and small Jenny Crawford and Willie Mahaffey. Tiny and beautiful little Helen Ware gave fancy dances, Mrs. Weatherbee pleased with whistling solos, the Misses Helen Drake and Rowena Newcomb gave violin and piano selections and Miss Jean Winslow was enjoyed in cleverly presented pianologues.

The program was brought to a close with an entertaining playlet, "How the Story Grew," showing how repetition of a simple statement may distort it beyond recognition.

W. T. Dykeman, district manager, presided over the session which closed with refreshments of ice cream and cake. The next meeting will be a dance next Wednesday night while on May 2 will be an initiation of about twenty-five new members.

Duo of Matrons Continue Series Of Bridge Events

Presenting the second in a charmingly conceived series of bridge functions of the spring season, Mrs. Earl S. Morrow and Mrs. H. T. Duckett greeted over two score friends yesterday afternoon at the Morrow home, 1424 Spurgeon street.

An unusual profusion of spring flowers were used to adorn the home and offer gay greeting to the guests. The afternoon's playing resulted in Mrs. Charles Kelley holding high score with Mrs. C. V. Davis a close second. Each received an attractive reward for proficiency while a pretty consolation gift was bestowed on Mrs. Addie Collins whose score was low.

Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. Duckett were assisted in receiving and entertaining their guests by Miss Stella Morehouse of Los Angeles, Mrs. Morrow's houseguest.

Six tables were employed for bridge. A similar function being presented this afternoon will complete the present series.

Cablegram Tells Glad News

Mr. and Mrs. L. Prager and Mrs. and Mrs. L. Schlesinger were highly elated today at the receipt of a cablegram from Panama announcing the birth yesterday, April 18, of a 10½ pound son to Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Prager.

Mrs. Prager was Miss Florence Gleason of Houston, Texas, and the young people spent their honeymoon in this city a year ago en route to Panama where Mr. Prager is with the government service, a position he has occupied for the past ten years. He is an enthusiastic Mason as well as is secretary of the lodge at Panama.

Another announcement made today is of equal interest as old Doctor Stork was an early visitor yesterday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Stack, 2034 North Bush street. Little Miss Mary Stack, in spite of a few falls now and then, is a very happy and contented small person. Mrs. Stack will be remembered as Miss Agnes Rudolph before her marriage.

Calumpit Camp

Boy Scouts of Brea under the leadership of Scoutmaster Robert H. Lee, entertained Calumpit Camp and Auxiliary last Tuesday evening, at the Boy Scouts' hall in Brea.

Comrade Lee had a drill by the Scouts, a tug-of-war and army setting-up exercises and then called on the members of the Camp and Auxiliary to go through the same program.

Speaking, music, dancing, games and refreshments followed and all present said that they enjoyed themselves thoroughly and would visit Brea again at future social meetings.

Comrade Lee introduced Mr. Glenn Brooks, the editor of the Brea Progress and an officer of the Lions club, and Mr. Brooks proceeded to read a welcome to the out-of-town guests.

Comrade Lee spoke at length on the benefits that resulted from the Spanish-American war and also on the attitude of the Santa Ana pension board that has turned down so many applicants who have applied under the pension law for Spanish war veterans passed in June, 1920.

Prof. Fanning, superintendent of the Brea schools and a veteran of the Spanish-American war, having served in the same battery with Adjutant Charles E. Dixon, was introduced and spoke of education in the Philippines. He said that under 400 years of Spanish rule but 14 per cent of the natives were taught to speak Spanish, while under the first five years of American control, 42 per cent had been taught English.

Editor Brooks, Prof. Fanning and Comrade Lee all spoke of the fine time they had enjoyed the night before at a Lions club banquet and that there was fried chicken, boiled chicken and then more chicken and at last chicken pie.

Officer of the Day M. C. Cooper, on being called upon said that a few days before he had called to pay a visit to his friend Sam Jernigan, the sheriff, and that while he was there, officers came in and reported an investigation made into the robbery of chicken ranches in the county. Fingerprint experts and footprint experts reported that all of the footprints headed towards Brea. "I make no charges," he said, but you can draw your inferences.

Junior vice commander spoke of the report made by the commander-in-chief, at Long Beach on results obtained by himself and his legislative committee, in Washington, trying to get congress to establish an equal standard for the Veterans of all wars.

Comrade M. C. Cooper was elected an additional delegate to the department, at Riverside, and Comrade D. J. Donnelly, of Anaheim, was elected alternate to the same encampment.

With "Making the World Safe for Mothers" as the theme for both meetings, north and south sections of the W. C. T. U. will hold interesting sessions Tuesday, April 24, at 2 p. m.

Mrs. A. A. Jones will be leader for the north section, meeting with Mrs. Albert Hill, 1618 Spurgeon street and Mrs. J. A. Kyle will lead the south section, at the home of Mrs. Fannie Lash, 220 Cypress street.

Missionary Society

With Mrs. Horton presiding, the Woman's Foreign Missionary society met in the First Methodist Episcopal church on Wednesday afternoon, a large number of members and friends being present.

Mrs. Winslow gave a very helpful address on "Walking and Talking With God." The first part of the lesson for the day was in charge of Mrs. Palmer. Mrs. Saunby told of the first things in our mission work in Mexico and South America; Mrs. Folsom told of the difficulties of the work. Mrs. McLeod, of the compensations and Mrs. Finn, of our forces, twenty-five missionaries being in active service in Mexico and seventeen in South America at the present date.

Mr. James Hughes accompanied by Miss Mabel Krause, sang a beautiful solo entitled "God's Love Can Never Fail." Mrs. Saunby read such an interesting letter from Gertrude B. Wheeler of Montevideo who acknowledged the receipt of books sent from this auxiliary.

Mrs. Lash then gave a synopsis of a chapter of the study book "Building With India." Two splendid letters from the society's own Miss Doris Wells were read by Miss Finn. By request the pageant "Founders Day" will be repeated Friday, April 27. Further particulars will be given later.

Legion Auxiliary

The regular second monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held tonight at the Armory with all members urged to attend as several matters of importance will be discussed.

It is anticipated that the Auxiliary will be able to compete favorably in Resurrection Day contests. Also plans are being made for a special entertainment feature for the near future in which the auxiliary members will be the chief participants.

The Kiwanis club has asked Auxiliary members to furnish and sell some of their "well known" home-made candies at the Kiwanis Minstrel show to be given at the Temple theater next week. All members are requested to make candy and cards will be sent out advising them where it should be sent.

Miss Elsie Fluor and Miss Genevieve Bowler have been secured to entertain the Auxiliary tonight and refreshments will be served as an added attraction.

Social Activities

Cupid has been on the wire at the local telephone exchange, declaring the fellow-workers of Miss Winifred Suffer and one of the group of courteous girls at the telephone office and whose engagement to Mr. Byron Campbell of Los Angeles has been of great interest to her friends.

The marriage of the young people will be an event of May 2 and Miss Suffer will complete her duties at the office this week.

In expressing their regret at losing her, and their interest in her happiness, the members of the busy staff of workers gathered Tuesday night as guests of Miss Ethel Lawrence at her home, 712 Bush street.

An unusually merry evening resulted with music and games to add to the interest. Boasting quite an orchestra, the company produces its own music and the members present that night added greatly to the pleasure. They included Miss Amy Clark, Miss Gladys Schuppert and Mrs. V. W. Sutton, violin; Miss Maude Whitinger, cornet; Bob Witmer flute; E. A. Beard, saxophone; Miss Lily Confer, bass viol and Mrs. Fay Meister, piano.

Miss Ethel Suffer gave a vocal solo, "Dreamy Moon," and a very pleasant little talk was made by V. E. Stokes, of Riverside, district traffic superintendent. A little commotion was caused by the arrival of a messenger boy bearing a telegram for the honor guest which expressed the love of her comrades and their regret at losing her despite their interest in her new life. Miss Suffer read the kindly message aloud to her assembled guests.

Later the arrival of a photographer was followed by grouping for flashlight pictures which will serve as mementoes of the occasion.

It was while the guests were enjoying the dainty little midnight supper which Miss Lawrence planned, that Miss Gladys Cook, acting chief operator at the exchange, made a merry little speech and presented to the honoree, a handsome gift of cut glass from her assembled friends.

Miss Lawrence's guests included in addition to Miss Suffer, the honoree, the Misses Millie Kien, Luella McDonald, Bessie Holloway, Gladys Cook, Amy Clark, Gladys Schuppert, Lydia Zempke, Bonnie Stitt, Maud Whittinger, Lily Confer, Ethel Lawrence, Nellie Holloway, Dorothy Evans, Ethel Suffer, Vera Chase, Cora Pargue Ruth Lawrence.

Pastel Tints Charm Assembled Guests At Bridge Tea

An unusually beautiful arrangement of blossoms of the Southland's spring, greeted guests assembling yesterday afternoon in response to an invitation from Mrs. Harvey Gardner, entertaining with the second of a series of pleasant bridge events.

Mrs. Gardner's decorative plan embracing flowers in pastel tints and the artistic efforts of Mrs. Eugene Robinson and Mrs. T. C. Hilburn were centered in producing truly "life size" French bouquets which adorned the tables and the rooms.

Five tables were employed for bridge and attractive gifts in yellow Swiss pottery were bestowed upon Mrs. Walter Vandermaast scoring high, and Mrs. Robert Steinberger, holding second high score. Quaint little yellow crystal violet baskets were given Mrs. J. S. Fluor as consolation for holding low score.

Mrs. Gardner was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Hilburn and Mrs. Robert Steinberger. The trio of young matrons also aided in serving the delectable menu whose strawberries, French cakes and other dainties harmonized charmingly with the pastel tones of flowers, tally cards and nut cups.

Mrs. Gardner will conclude her present series of social events with a bridge tea which she is presenting Saturday afternoon at her home, 338 North Ross street.

Yesterday's guest included Mesdames J. N. Bartholomew, George Briggs, W. L. Delmaring, F. E. Farnsworth, J. S. Fluor, O. H. Egge, A. M. Gardner, O. A. Haley, L. L. Butterfield, T. C. Hilburn, J. N. with Zerolene

Few motorists would willingly pay fancy prices for oil if they knew what we know about Zerolene, which sells for about half the price of many other oils.

Zerolene, made from selected Naphthenic-Base Crude and vacuum-distilled by our exclusive process, stands up better and gives better, continuous lubrication than any oil we have seen and tested or been able to produce.

One of the best proofs of this is, that a car lubricated with Zerolene averages 5% better in gasoline mileage than a car lubricated with other oils, as shown by repeated laboratory tests. Even more important, Zerolene will run a car from 25% to 50% farther before carbon-removing operations are required.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost less. Consult our Correct Lubrication Chart to determine the correct oil for your car.

W. C. T. U. FOLK CLOSE ANNUAL CONVENTION

The W. C. T. U. of Orange county today had closed its thirty-fourth annual convention at Fullerton in the Methodist church.

This convention will go down in history as one of the best conventions held in many years. The hospitality of the people of Fullerton, the beautiful surroundings, the interest manifested, all went to make it a great convention. The decorating committee kept the church well supplied with beautiful flowers. The attendance was splendid and the program was full of good addresses, the state president, Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, adding much enthusiasm to the meetings. This has been a prosperous year for the W. C. T. U. with a gain of 96 members. Orange county will have reached its goal of 1000 members soon. This must be attained by the time the state convention is held at Ventura May 22-25. With each union doing its share this can be done. Orange county was the first to raise its budget of a dollar per member.

Elect New Officers.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Estella Harper, Garden Grove; vice president, Mrs. George Heil, Orange; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lea Warren, Santa Ana; treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Kellogg, Santa Ana.

The following resolutions were passed:

Whereas, we have for many years been working for a community property law in our state; therefore, be it resolved, that this convention extend to Governor Richardson our thanks for signing the bill thereby making it a law.

Whereas, we view with alarm the increasing use of cigarettes and narcotics; therefore, be it resolved, that we recommend to our educators that more attention be paid to the teaching of scientific temperance in our schools.

Resolved, that we commend our city and county officers who are faithfully trying to enforce our laws against illegal traffic in liquor and narcotics.

Commend Doctors.

Resolved, that we commend all those doctors and druggists who are complying with the law in regard to the sale of liquor for medicinal purposes.

Resolved, that we appreciate the fine address of our president, Mrs. Estella Harper, and suggest that it be published in the papers.

Resolved, that we as an organization do not fail to enter every open door this coming year, that conceals anything harmful, morally, socially, or spiritually to humanity and that we seek earnestly to interest and educate our young people along all lines of our work.

We extend thanks to our hostess, the Fullerton union, for its cordial hospitality, to the trustees of the First M. E. church, for the use of their beautiful building, to the press for courtesies rendered and for the reports of our proceedings, to the musicians, for their beautiful selections that have enlivened our program, to the decorating committee who have made our place of meeting beautiful with spring flowers, to our faithful little pages, and to the janitor of the church, and all others who have in any way contributed to the success of the convention.

FOUR YEARS OF RAPID GROWTH HERE SHOWN BY REPORT

STILL CLIMBING

All City Departments Have Doubled Staffs; Building Program Gains

(Because the retiring report of former Mayor J. G. Mitchell contained figures of permanent value to all interested in the growth and prosperity of Santa Ana, the report is reprinted in part here as a logical feature of the Development Section of The Register.—Editor.)

"When we took up the reins of office four years ago Santa Ana had a population of about 14,000 inhabitants," said Mitchell's report. "Today there are about 28,000 people within our gates—a gain of 100 per cent in four years. The assessed valuation of all property in 1919 was $2,717,375. At the present time we have an assessed valuation of $12,282,765, an increase of $9,565,390 or 264 per cent in valuation as against 100 per cent in population.

Rapid Growth.

"In order to cope with the rapid growth of the city it has been necessary, in some instances, to double the force in the various departments. Due to the high cost of living we have been forced to increase quite materially the wages of every person on the city payroll.

President of City Board Looks into Bright Future

By J. W. TUBBS, President of the Santa Ana Board of Trustees.

Reviewing former Mayor J. G. Mitchell's report of activities in this city during the last four years I am impressed with the prosperous possibilities of the future of Santa Ana.

Santa Ana has fairly and surely won the privilege of characterizing its development through the years as an unbroken chain of prosperity.

There is every reason to believe that this prosperity will continue in the years to come. This year has opened with a promise of records to be made and broken in every department of civic progress.

In increase of population, influx of industrials, development of new business, and the steadily applied impetus to building activities, Santa Ana stands far above any other city of its class in Southern California.

Secure in its enviable position, Santa Ana feels a pardonable pride in displaying its growth to visitors, to prospective Santa Anans and to the substantial citizens of other communities.

Santa Ana, for this reason, is becoming a convention city. It has entertained conventions in the past. It will entertain many more in the future, because delegates to past conventions were favorably impressed—even to the point of enthusiasm—with what they found here.

The county seat of Orange county cannot be accused of having a "village mind." It has a "metropolitan mind." Ribbed with a strong element of conservatism, vitalized by an impulsive, optimistic youth, Santa Ana has the true combination of civic forces that make for steady growth, with proper foresight and mature decision.

Subdivision of the big ranch is the result of the sale through the Wilmax Land company of the

Willis has had long experience in the handling of business property exclusively. It was pointed out today by J. C. Wallace, secretary of the board, that the address should be of interest to local business property owners. He said that anyone wishing to attend the luncheon could do so by making advance reservation with him.

Max Smith and Curt Perrin are members of the committee which has developed the program for tomorrow.

FURNITURE CO. TO REMODEL NEW STORE

Dickey-Baggerly Plans To Move Into Modern Display Establishment

Work will start next week on the remodeling of the store room on the northwest corner of Fourth and Spurgeon streets, now occupied by the Wm. F. Lutz Co., implement dealers, to adapt it to the needs of the Dickey-Baggerly Furniture company, it was announced today by Jess Baggerly, a member of the firm. It is expected the remodeling will be completed by June 1.

The Lutz company will transfer its stock to the Fifth street front of the same building. Improvements to be made in that section of the building include a new front. Frank's garage will vacate the premises. To start and complete the improvements by the scheduled date for the transfer June 1 is the plan announced.

Modern Store. According to Baggerly the new home of the Dickey-Baggerly company will be one of the finest and most up-to-date furniture stores in the city. A new front will be installed to match the Hill building, which adjoins it. Display windows and ornamental metal and glass canopy will be extended on Spurgeon street and will be of the same type as the front of the store.

The improvements will cost several thousands of dollars. A $40,000 furniture stock will be carried. The new location will afford the company the use of over 15,000 square feet of floor space, which will make possible the installation of a rug rack holding 100 room-size rugs.

Five Years Old. The Dickey-Baggerly Furniture company was started by L. A. Dickey and Baggerly after they were discharged from military service about five years ago. They began business in the small store room at 310 East Fourth street carrying $1000 stock. Later they moved to larger quarters at 308 East Fourth street. About a year and a half ago they moved to their present location on the southeast corner of Fourth and Spurgeon streets.

Before entering military service Dickey conducted the furniture store at Main and Third streets, now occupied by Ira Chandler & Son. Baggerly was connected with a local furniture store a number of years.

The building now occupied by the company was bought by Gerard Brothers and will be remodelled and modernized to house one of their chain of Alpha Beta markets.

FUN WILL RULE AT KIWANIS S. A. FOLLIES

Hilarity will reign supreme when the Kiwanis club play, "Follies of Santa Ana," a broad burlesque on the Choral Union, the Community Players and the well known Orange county organization is given here May 8 and 9, according to vague hints dropped here today by those in charge of the rehearsals being held at the First Christian church.

"The program will be evenly divided," said F. C. Blauer, one of the Kiwanis club members taking an active interest in the coming funfest.

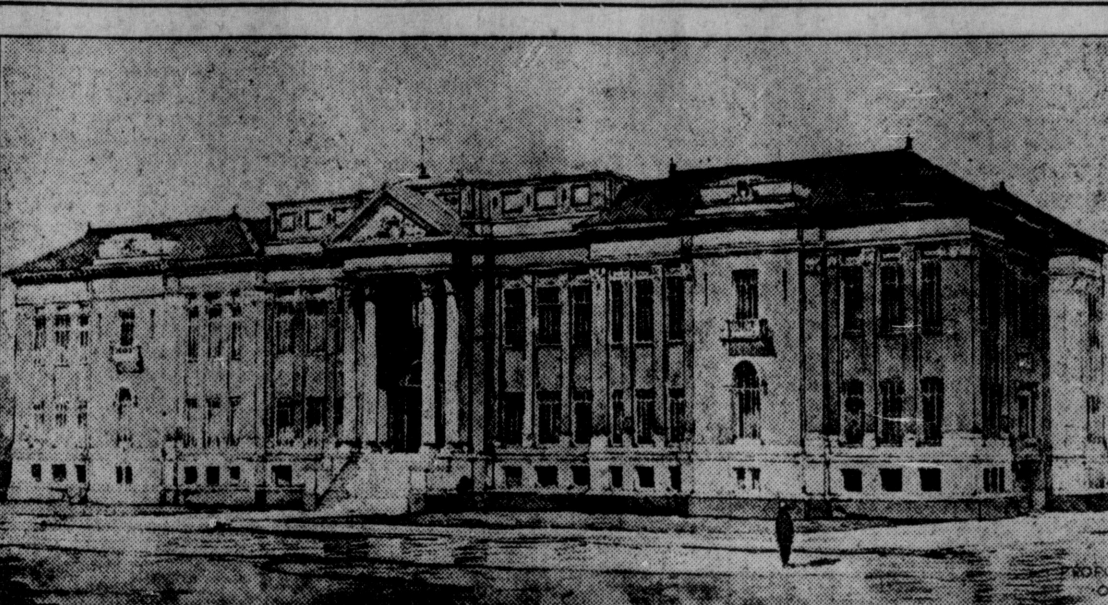

First, we will present the Kiwanis skit, written by Stanley Reed, in which the follies of Santa Ana will be featured by local clubmen.

"Then the Lions club, presenting a skit of their own, will keep the audience in an uproar. Following this we will offer thirty minutes of high class music, and the show will be rounded out with forty-five minutes of old-time minstrelsy, with well-known Kiwanis members taking leading parts in the fun.

"Tickets for the members may be obtained at Mateer's drug store. Scenes of the burlesque will be laid at Newport harbor and the famous old dredger will form the background for some sparkling farce.

WASHINGTON ACRES ATTRACT BUYERS BY CHOICE OF LOTS

Lots are selling in Washington Acres, the new subdivision opened on West Washington avenue by White & Childers, according to announcement today by Everett A. White. White pointed out that the fact a purchaser may have his choice of lots as to walnut or orange tree improvement is making the subdivision attractive.

He announced that petitions are now in circulation and probably will be presented to the city council next Monday evening asking the paving of Artesia street, Fifth street to Washington avenue, and Washington avenue, Artesia to Lowell street. Paving of Washington avenue from Broadway to Lowell already has been petitioned for, he declared.

NEW SUBDIVISION TO OPEN TUESDAY

With streets marked and lots staked, preparations were being made today for opening next Tuesday the North Broadway Park subdivision at the head of North Broadway, it was announced today by L. H. Chatterton, manager of the California Improvement company, which is putting on the new tract.

According to Chatterton a number of lot reservations already have been made, with probability that a large number of the choice lots will be snapped up quickly following formal opening.

The subdivision embraces approximately fifty acres in what is declared will develop into one of the finest residence locations in the city. Land varying in price from $4000 to $6000 an acre has been cut up, with one of the oldest and best walnut groves in the immediate vicinity of Santa Ana being sacrificed to the march of city expansion and development to the north.

He went to California 37 years ago, settling in Santa Ana. Nine years later he moved to Compton, which had been his home since that time. Shortly after his arrival he began publication of the Compton Enterprise, which was the only paper in the city until about a year and a half ago.

REALTORS WILL BANQUET AT LONG BEACH

MAGIC OF OIL GIVES HANKEY FINE RANCH

When Carl Hankey, some five or six years ago, bought a five-acre piece of uncouth ground near Huntington Beach with the hope that on this bit of earth he could have a home of his own he didn't know that this same five acres would eventually bring him into possession of a fine ranch at San Juan Capistrano.

But it did that very thing. Hankey acquired the ranch a year or more ago on a trade in which he released a part of his five acres, then in the Western Union oil lease at Huntington Beach. Yesterday he added fifty acres to his ranch.

Hankey's first acquisition at San Juan Capistrano was twenty-two acres, of which nearly all is in orchard. The ranch lies in the San Juan canyon a short distance above the mission town.

Yesterday Hankey, with money derived from oil royalties, closed the purchase of fifty acres across the road from where he lives. Of this fifty acres, seventeen is comparatively level, and Hankey expects to develop orchards. There, too, is a small hill with a fine view of the mountains, canyon and sea in the distance. On that hill, within a year or two, Hankey will build a residence. The purchase consummated yesterday was from L. W. Furinton and Oscar Guilbert.

REPORTS SALES. Real estate sales reported by The California Trading company this week include a residence in the Belissel & Newcomb tract on North Logan street to Wm. A. Lawrence, residence property at 334 Halesworth street, owned by A. W. Williams, to Hugh N. Keiser, who recently came here from Ohio, and a lot in the McFadden tract No. 1, to Mitchell Haskell.

STEADY GROWTH OF FACTORIES WITHIN CITY LIMITS TOLD

Plants East of Santa Fe Tracks Carry $175,000 Monthly Payroll

1700 EMPLOYEES

Packing Houses, Machine Shops, Allied Industries, All Are Here

Since the days when the Santa Ana merchants and Manufacturers' association sponsored an ordinance regulating the hitching of horses to racks in the business district here, Santa Ana has grown from a village to a city with an industrial district representing an investment of $5,000,000, it was estimated today.

The major part of this investment is concentrated in the district east of the Santa Fe tracks. P. S. Lucas, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, compiled figures showing that in that district alone there is an industrial investment of $4,000,000.

The payroll there, he said, was over $175,000 a month. Approximately 1700 employees are engaged in operating the various manufacturing, packing houses and other plants in the district, he said.

Seven Lumber Yards. "Santa Ana has seven lumber companies doing business within the city limits," continued Lucas. "These companies are supplying the lumber and other building materials being used in the record-breaking building program of this year."

"Seven packing houses, representing a like number of co-operative organizations or individual packers, operate here in season. This number does not include the citrus packing houses, but only the walnut, bean, and various vegetable packing houses. Over $2,000,000 is represented in these industries."

"Five oil and gasoline distributing companies have plants here. Their storage tanks and yards with the consequent staff of workers and a large payroll play an important part in the industrial life here."

Many Factories. "We have machine shops, oil well equipment plants, automobile accessories manufacturers, also manufacturers of automobile tops and bodies, and parts."

"There are over six wholesale bakeries with headquarters in Santa Ana. Two bottling works are doing business here."

"Two of the most progressive wholesale grocery firms in Southern California have chosen Santa Ana as their headquarters."

BIG COMMUNITY FUN NIGHT IS PLAN HERE

Invitations today were extended to scores of Santa Ana residents to attend the "community fun night," to be given under the auspices of the Play and Recreation Institute in the American Legion home here Monday night.

"We hope to be able to offer Santa Ana grown-ups a most enjoyable program," said Miss Josephine Randall, director of Community Service in this city, "and a cordial invitation is extended to the public."

The program, scheduled for 8 o'clock will open with a musical concert, followed by a "community sing." C. S. Crookshank, president of Community Service in Santa Ana, will award the game leaders' certificates. These will be given to members of the class who have attended four out of six sessions of the Play and Recreation Institute.

The games will start with a grand march, in which the audience will be asked to join. Competitive games between children representing the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and Elks play divisions will be staged.

Boy Scouts will act as ushers on this occasion.

the police commissioner that more men are needed in this department in order to do the work in a satisfactory manner.

"Four years ago our fire department had five paid men and the equipment consisted of two combination hose and chemical trucks and one hand drawn hook and ladder truck.

Cites Present Department.

"Today our fire department consists of nine men including the chief, and there has been added to the equipment one motor driven hook and ladder truck, one 1000-gallon pump engine, one car equipped with chemical tank, 3,500 feet of fire hose and various other sundries have been added to complete the department. We now have a No. 1, up-to-date fire department, all housed in a beautiful fire hall built in 1921 at a cost of $22,000 and fully equipped for twenty firemen."

Recounting certain features of development of the city, the retiring mayor pointed out that building permits from September 23, 1908, to April 16, 1923, totaled $16,022,036, of which amount $10,210,641 had been issued in the past four years, or 63.7 per cent of the total for approximately twenty years.

In the four years the equivalent of twenty-four miles of eighteen-foot paving has been laid, with contracts awarded and petitions granted for another twelve miles.

Sewer System Grows. Mitchell recalled that in 1920 375 house sewer connections were made, with the number increasing in 1921 to 442 and 584 in 1922. For the first three months in 1923, 188 had been issued.

In the four years forty-seven subdivisions were approved by the council, with a total of 2444 lots. In the same period 7.65 miles of water pipe were laid, forty hydrants were installed, 2028 service connections were made and three new wells were drilled. In April, 1919, the daily average of water pumped was 2,693,272 gallons and for March, 1923, it was 3,482,134 gallons.

Approximately twelve miles of sewer were laid, with 7.1 miles provided for in the work now under way to connect with the joint outfall.

IDAHO GASOLINE TAX WILL RAISE $600,000 IN NEXT TWO YEARS

MALAD, Idaho, April 18.—Idaho's gasoline tax of 2 cents a gallon will raise $600,000 during the next two years, it is estimated.

The estimate of the revenue which the state will derive from the gasoline tax for highway purposes is based on information received from five other western states having a gasoline tax law that has been in operation from two to three years. Most of these states have the 2-cent tax, while others added an additional cent this year.

tract a few weeks ago to Los Angeles capitalists who purchased it for this purpose.

Surveyors are now engaged in mapping the tract. Streets will be opened and water piped to every tract. DeWolfe pointed out that there are fourteen artesian wells on the tract. He declared the flow of these wells is sufficient to insure plenty of water for irrigation and domestic use.

The Von Schiltz place is one of the best known pieces of property in the Greenville district. The land is said to be ideal for the growing of small crops.

DeWolfe predicted quick sale of the lots when the property is thrown on the market.

MANY FROM COUNTY GO TO BIBLE MEET

Fully 500 guests, including more than one hundred from Santa Ana and Orange county, will be in attendance at Highland Park tonight when the second quarterly convention of the Southern California Federation of Men's Bible classes meets, according to estimates made here today by W. B. Martin of this city.

Martin, prominent in Community Bible class work here, will be one of the principal speakers at the big gathering, as will Harry Hill, of the Men's Community Bible class of Orange.

"The Orange county delegation," said Martin, "will go to Highland Park on special cars provided by the Pacific Electric. The Pacific Electric coaches, leaving Orange at 4:30 p. m., will pick up about 45 passengers from the Orange and Modena districts. The Santa Ana delegates, fifty strong, will board the cars at Fourth and Main street, here, at 4:45, with a number from Fullerton and Anaheim."

"Our party will arrive at Highland Park at 6:30 p. m., in ample time for the banquet, at 7 o'clock. Returning, the special train will leave there at 10 p. m., arriving here about 11:30 p. m. This dinner, which will attract guests from all sections of the state is one of the most important gatherings of the kind ever planned for Southern California. More than thirty Bible classes will be represented."

ANNOUNCE VICTORS IN ESSAY CONTEST HERE

Kenneth Adams, 16, of 825 East First street, today was declared the winner of an essay contest sponsored by the J. C. Horton Furniture company and participated in by pupils of the public schools of this city.

Pupils were asked to prepare brief essays based upon their emotions when viewing "The Village Blacksmith," a masterpiece of the painter's art.

"With mingled emotions I stand reverently admiring the masterpiece of one of the many artists who have died, unrewarded," was the way in which the winner of the contest began his essay. "Slowly, into my consciousness is instilled the thought that this is not merely a picture; the genius of an artist has placed a man's living, breathing soul upon a sheet of canvas."

Overton Luhr, 15, of 2100 North Bristol street, was awarded second prize, and Ruth Clewett, 1117 South Main, won third place.

RUM HOUND OF RAID FAME IS NOW MISSING

"Boozie," the rum hound, whose wailing plea for a home, broadcast through a published "interview," was heard throughout Orange county, now has one home too many.

Beside that, he has at least six other offers of a place wherein to live.

But he declined them. That is, by his sudden disappearance from his new found haunts around the sheriff's office, he tacitly refused the invitations.

When he "talked" to the newspaper man, Boozie told of his homesickness which followed the arrest of his masters at Smeltzer, where they were said to have been operating the biggest still in Southern California.

Down in Mouth.

In fact, what with the "hang-over" which he was suffering from the effects of copious draughts of "cawn liker" which he had absorbed on the day of the raid, and the fact that he was turned out of his quarters at the gun club where the still was located, he was a bit down in the mouth.

So the story regarding Boozie's need of a home was printed.

Then Boozie—the ungrateful brute—disappeared, on the eve of the discovery of a home. Before the first six men desiring him appeared at the sheriff's office, he had gone—where, no one knew.

Today it became known that all this stuff that Boozie pulled about being homeless was untrue; that he had a home and didn't know it. L. G. Wells, Talbert rancher, arrived at the sheriff's office to say that Boozie, then known as "Red," had belonged to him, and that Whitson Smith, one of those seized in the raid, had taken him away when he moved from property rented from Wells. It was said that friends of Smith had taken him away from Santa Ana.

"I'd like that dog back," Wells said. "I was sorry to hear that he had become a booze fighter. When he lived with us, he was a perfect gentleman, and so far as I know, a drop of liquor never passed his jaws."

"However, I believe that under the right influence, he would reform."

So if anyone knows where Boozie is, drunk or sober, let him step up and make the fact known. Wells recognized a published photograph of the animal last Tuesday afternoon, and has been searching for him ever since.

southern section of the county are used in the manufacture of sugar. A woolen mill today is preparing plans to enter the field here.

Utility Investments. "The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, the Southern California Edison company, and the Southern Counties gas company all have large investments in permanent buildings here, the figures of which were not included in the strictly local industrial investment total.

"Three laundries, employing over 200 people, are doing business here. One of the laundry companies is about to complete its new $125,000 machine equipped building here.

New Plants. "The city's largest creamery company has just completed its new plant, estimated to cost $150,000. It employs about 65 people. "A glass factory turns out builders hardware glass here. An art glass factory supplies a need in this city.

"Four wholesale feed houses, and wholesale tobacco and cigar distributors, butter and eggs and wholesale produce firms, and various other jobbers are included in Santa Ana's industrial directory.

"There still is room in Santa Ana for other industries, and from the applications here for information as to conditions, I should judge that Santa Ana can have all the manufacturing considered wise for the welfare of the city."

Two Things About the Vacuum Cleaner—

FIRST, it will deliver all the convenience and comfort claimed for it—provided you buy a standard make such as the Premier.

Second, the scope and utility of your cleaner, as well as other appliances, are dependent upon the quality and completeness of the original electrical installation. And that, in turn, depends upon the integrity and competence of the electrical contractor who does the work.

The Premier Vacuum Cleaner bears the "check" seal of the Pacific States Electric Company, which means that it has been tested, passed and certified as standard, and that the dealer or contractor from whom you buy it is competent and responsible.

You will find the "check" seal on the electrical materials and appliances which we supply and install for you. It is your assurance of our competence; of the fact that we employ only good workmanship and that we charge fair prices.

You will enjoy the new booklet "The Electrical How for Householders," which lists a variety of standard electrical materials and appliances, and describes their use in the course of a typical day in an electrified home. We will supply you a copy free upon request.

'ANNABELLE' PLAYS TO CROWDED HOUSES

"Good Gracious Annabelle," in the hands of the Santa Ana Community Players' association, is one of the biggest successes so far achieved by that organization. Ernest Crozier Phillips, director, stated today.

"We played to an S. R. O. house at the Temple theater Tuesday night, to a packed house again last night, and for tonight's performance, which will be the last, the seats have been virtually sold out."

"When we planned this production we were dubious whether we could attract satisfactory attendance more than three nights. Developments of this week, however, make us wish that we had procured the Temple theater for five nights instead of only four."

One of the pleasant social events of the week in Player circles was the party that H. B. Van Dine, one of the cast, gave on the stage Tuesday night following the performance. Members of the Santa Ana and Laguna Players organizations were on the stage and enjoyed a buffet luncheon. A number of artists from Laguna entertained.

Think of Acreage at $1250 to $3500 In the Garden Spot of Orange County

NESTLING in the frostless foothill district of Orange County, the David Hewes Ranch, which has just been subdivided by its owners, offers income-producing homesites at most reasonable cost. Hewes Ranch in which is located Hewes Park, one of the show places of Orange County, equals if not surpasses the beauties of Hollywood, Beverly Hills and Flintridge. A visit to Hewes Park will confirm this statement because standing amid glorious groves of orange and lemon trees, breathing their fragrant aroma, you will sense the beauty of the surroundings—a wondrous valley rimmed with verdant hills, and in the distance, snow-capped mountains. This beautiful vista will be your proof that here, indeed, is a perfect setting for your home.

Three miles west lies the city of Orange with a population of about 10,000; five miles southwest is Santa Ana, the metropolis of Orange County and the county seat with a population of about 30,000. Adjoining Hewes Ranch is the town of El Modena. Each of these cities offers fine schools and churches. Gas, electricity and telephone service are available to the residents of Hewes Ranch. You can enjoy a healthful, beautiful home adjacent to the foothills and at the same time have these city conveniences.

Regarding Orange County, within whose boundaries the Hewes Ranch is situated, too much cannot be said. Perfect in climate, Orange County can justly lay claim to being the most productive agricultural zone in California. It is the smallest county in the state, in point of area, yet it produced $100,000,000.00 in 1922. That the 675 acres comprising Hewes Ranch Subdivision are productive is established by the shipment of 36,996 boxes of oranges and 59,764 boxes of lemons in 1922 from this ranch.

CLIMATE

An even climate prevails here the year around and little or no damage to Hewes Ranch groves has been suffered since the ranch has been in existence. Even the cold snaps of 1913 and 1919 did not hurt this section, proving it to be admirably adapted for growing oranges and lemons.

IRRIGATION

Water for irrigation is assured purchasers of Hewes Ranch land because a double supply is provided by the David Hewes Mutual Water Company and the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company. Ten shares of stock in the former company and one share in the latter are given with every acre purchased. Provision has been made for caring for tracts purchased by non-residents until such time as they may build their homes on their property.

PACKING HOUSE

The David Hewes Orange and Lemon Association's packing house has been in operation at the ranch for many years and bears a fine reputation in the markets throughout the country. Ten shares of the stock of this association are given with every acre of land purchased.

SIZE OF TRACTS

The minimum tract of Orange Grove land offered for sale is 4 acres; the Lemon Grove land is available in parcels of 2½ acres. Groves of any size, above the minimum, may be purchased.

SHIPPING AND TRANSPORTATION

The Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric lines provide service for Hewes Ranch. The Union Pacific is now constructing a new road to Santa Ana. With the completion of Newport Harbor upon which $1,000,000.00 has already been spent, there will come a material reduction in present shipping costs which will mean greater profit to the grower.

This harbor is only fifteen miles from Hewes Ranch and its completion will have a big effect on the affairs of Orange County.

PRICES

Valencia Orange Groves are priced from $1,250.00 to $3,500.00 per acre. The Lemon Groves range from $1,250.00 to $2,500.00 per acre. The buyer gets the matured crop that is on the trees at these prices.

TERMS

One-third cash; one-third in two years; and, one-third in three years. Deferred payments will bear 7 per cent interest. The principal may be paid off or reduced at any time by payments of $500.00, or multiples thereof.

HEWES PARK WILL BE SOLD

Hewes Park, itself, consisting of 15.10 acres is offered intact for $45,000.00. A wonderful setting for a home.

HEWES RANCH IS A FINE INVESTMENT

Investigation will disclose that Valencia groves of like character, age and location are held at $2,500.00 to $6,000.00 per acre in Orange County and sales are being made at these figures. Comparing these prices with the prices asked for Hewes Ranch land makes the investment value stand out. Add to this price advantage the double water rights and the valuable packing house interest that buyers receive and you must acknowledge that Hewes Ranch Subdivision offers a sweet investment proposition. Bear in mind that you can secure here an income-producing acre for the same prices that are being asked for residence lots in various tracts. It is easy to figure that your opportunity for valuation increase in one acre is five times greater than in one city lot.

Investigate now. Call at our office for additional information that space prevents giving here.

What to Eat and Why

Making a Big Word an Easy Part of Your Diet

Car-bo-hy-drates make up about 60 per cent of the average diet. They produce heat and energy. They are largely secured from the grain and vegetable starches.

In the long, slow baking by which Grape-Nuts is produced from wheat and malted barley, the grain starches are partially pre-digested. They are changed to "dextrins" and "maltose"—forms of Carbohydrates so easy to digest that they form the basis of the most successful baby foods.

Many people have digestive trouble caused by the food-starch in its original form, but Grape-Nuts has been famous for a quarter-century for its exceptional ease of digestion, and assimilation, and its splendid, building nourishment. It is a food for strength and energy, delightfully crisp and appetizing, made today by the same formula which first brought this charm for taste and aid to health to the world's dining table. Grape-Nuts contains the iron, phosphorus and the essential vitamin, so often lacking in modern, "refined" foods.

Many servings of real food value in a package of this economical food. At your grocer's today—ready to serve with cream or milk. Grape-Nuts—the Body Builder. "There's a Reason." Made by Postum Cereal Co., Inc., Battle Creek, Mich.

BIG AUDIENCE THRILLED BY L. A. PHILHARMONIC CONCERT

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

"Music when soft voices die, vibrates in the memory."

So sang one of the sweetest of the poets, and today music was vibrating in the memory of all who last night sat enthralled by the artistry of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra appearing as the final number on the Santa Ana Musical association concert course.

A packed house greeted the performance and the audience was in a most friendly mood. The spirit of interest and appreciation communicated itself to the musicians with the result of a perfect communion between players and listeners from the opening bars of the "Scherzade Suite" by Rimsky-Korsakoff to the final magnificent rendering of the overture from "Tannhauser."

In the opening suite could be felt the influence which has seemed to dominate the modernists in the past few years—that inclination to be descriptive and to paint mental pictures by means of melody.

One felt that the first motif, "The Sea and Simbad's Ship," must have been composed near the sea. It had the long low swells and the beat of the waves. In "The Story of the Kalandar-Prince" was the fanfare of trumpets heralding the approach of the royal youth—and oh, how visible was his pride and touch of youthful arrogance!

Final Number Colorful. All the poignancy of young love was apparent in the sweetness of "The Young Prince and the Young Princess" with its compellingly interwoven themes. As for the final number, based on the theme of the "Festival at Bagdad," it was perhaps the most colorful of the suite, with its dreams of quaint Oriental streets, shrieking camel-boys, dark-eyed hours borne in palanquins, a swart Arab in white burnoose, dark flashing faces and all the romance and the grime and the wild, weird and terrible beauty of the unknown. The strangely sweet long-drawn note of the composition's end seemed to surge as the swirl of waters over a sunken ship.

Perhaps one of the most graceful things musically, ever happening in Santa Ana was connected with the second group on the program which was "The Land of the Mists," composed by S. J. Mustel of this city, was played and Walter Henry Rothwell surrendered his place as director to the composer who directed his own composition.

The change was made so quietly and with so little to indicate its unusualness that its really extraordinary features were disregarded. But the fact remains that seldom have we had so great a compliment paid us as that of an organization like the Philharmonic orchestra rehearsing a new number and being directed by other than the regular director just out of compliment to their audience.

It was an occasion for extreme pride to the community for the composition was a work of art, wonderfully presented and wonderfully directed. Mr. Mustel too, painted pictures with his theme-pictures of sunlit valleys and singing red-men, pictures of excitement over strange gifts from the sea, gifts of men white skinned and lordly, followed by the confusion of fear and the sound of battle and ending finally in triumphal peace and a sweet pastoral charm.

Presentation Faultless. The presentation of the number was faultless and showed the organization's appreciation of the work of a composer and the thorough sympathy and understanding established between them at the several rehearsals held in Los Angeles preparatory to presenting the overture.

Interest of the audience manifested itself in prolonged applause to which the composer-director was compelled to bow again and again. Two delightful solo numbers were given. The first was the prelude to "Le Dejeuner" by Saint-Saens, offered in a masterly manner as a violin solo by Sylvain Noack. Mr. Noack's technique and bowing seemed marvelous and the background offered in the orchestral accompaniment heightened the beauties of the composition and his interpretation.

The second solo number was that of Ilya Bronson, cellist. Massenet's "Invitation from 'Les Erinnyes'" was the chosen number and the audience remained almost breathless at the beauty of the composition as offered by a master, to break into spontaneous applause at its conclusion.

Great Crowd Tense. Going back to that master-musician, Wagner, for their final number, the overture from "Tannhauser" was given in such a manner that the great crowd sat tense with the sheer strength and beauty. The walling of the stringed instruments was so piercingly sweet that the very air seemed to throb with the magnificent strains.

As Mr. Rothwell stepped from his director's stand and left the stage it was to the accompaniment of such salvos of applause as are rarely offered by our slightly undemonstrative city.

Returning to bow his appreciation, the director was greeted with renewed enthusiasm and still the audience refused to leave their seats.

The ovation was continued until Mr. Rothwell picked up his baton and signalled the orchestra which immediately swung into a beautiful and swaying waltz while the audience sat enraptured. It was one of the most enthusiastically voiced appreciations ever bestowed upon an artist or an aggregation of artists here and the orchestra members were fully appreciative of the entire sympathy of their hearers.

Firms and individuals who helped make possible the bringing of the orchestra to this city, either by subscribing to the Santa Ana Musical association fund or by purchasing blocks of tickets for their employees for last night's concert, included the following:

The concert was followed by one of the most delightful social affairs of the season when Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Gustlin entertained informally in honor of the musicians.

The spacious Gustlin home is well adapted for such entertaining and crowds of interested friends greeted the members of the orchestra who found it possible to remain for an hour or more before their long drive back to Los Angeles.

Mr. Rothwell was one of the lions of the evening and proved to have a charming personality as did the various distinguished guests, including Sylvain Noack, the violinist.

Serve Buffet Supper. Masses of Spanish and Eastern Mosaic combined artistically with valerian were used throughout the rooms. In the dining-room, Mrs. Ella Campau presided at the coffee urn while chocolate was poured by Mrs. Walter Gustlin. A delicious buffet supper was served and guests chatted in an informal friendly manner until a late hour.

Many were here from Laguna, having enjoyed the evening recital as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gustlin following a charmingly appointed dinner. Among them were Miss Anna Hills and Miss Nellie Hills, Mr. Frank Cuprien, Annie Gayne Peake and others.

At the conclusion of the performance of the Community play, "Good Gracious Annabelle," leading members of the cast also joined the party.

OBREGON TO MAKE BORDER ZONE DRY

MEXICO CITY, April 18.—The Mexican border is going to lose that part of its population known as thirsty, if plans of the Obregon government are carried out.

A draft of a law is being prepared which will make a dry zone along the border 50 miles deep.

President Obregon has taken a strong stand against booze and dope along the border and is personally advocating the "dry zone."

"I am personally interested in seeing that these degrading vices are eliminated," he stated recently to the press.

The establishment of a "dry zone" at the border was agitated at the time of President Carranza, but not much progress made.

President Obregon is of the opinion that such a zone is now necessary along the border because of the vices imported from the United States and because, as he expresses it, "the frontier cities are rapidly becoming cesspools for American vices."

NEW RAID MADE BY WHOLESALE BURGLARS

For the second time within a week the "wholesale burglars" visited Orange county last night, and for the second time within two months, the Blue and Gold service station, intersection of Orange and Fullerton boulevards, was robbed.

Tires, tubes and accessories, valued at $300, were stolen, according to Deputy Herman Zabel, who investigated today.

Unlike the first burglary of the service station, the marauders were equipped with a key with which they unlocked the padlock on the door, Zabel declared.

Entry was gained some time between 12:45 a. m., when the proprietor left, and 1:30 a. m. when he returned.

The station was closed at 12:45 a. m. while the proprietor went to his home. Less than an hour later, when he again passed the place of business, he investigated and discovered the robbery.

Several months ago burglars entered the place, and removed tires and accessories worth $800.

"CAPTAIN FLY-BY-NIGHT" AT PRINCESS TONIGHT

Johnnie Walker's busy career as a star on the screen has compelled him to confront any number of perilous situations but few have lead him through such hazards as his latest and greatest starring production "Captain Fly-By-Night," which opens at the Princess theater tonight.

"Captain Fly-By-Night" has all the colorful and languorous atmosphere of old California in the days of Spanish domination and Johnnie Walker appears as a dashing and courageous young patriot who leads his devoted countrymen in a struggle to quell an uprising by revolutionists. Romance and fast-moving drama are the keynotes of the story which was written by Johnston McCulley, best known for his "The Mark of Zorro," in which Douglas Fairbanks achieved a noteworthy success a couple of years ago.

DIME IS DRAMATIZED IN WALTER HIERS' COMEDY.

Dramatizing a dime! Making a small, thin coin of the denomination of ten cents so important that the hero, the heroine, the villain and the remainder of the living characters in a photoplay are for the moment forgotten, while interest centers on the shiny bit of silver.

Such a situation arises in "Mr. Billings Spends His Dime," the picture comedy starring Walter Hiers, now showing at the West End.

As a clerk in a store, Hiers, known in the picture as Billings, earns twenty dollars a week. He saves nothing. As a consequence he is fired by a jealous boss who is in love with a girl who adores Walter. He finds himself with a lone dime alone in a cold world.

What to do with it? Food, naturally, is the first thought. Drink, perhaps, is the second. But does Billings make use of his dime for food or drink? Not at all. He buys a cigar with it!

Through the spending of the dime, Billings becomes involved in a South American revolution, wins himself a beautiful girl and has the time of his life.

Jacqueline Logan is featured as leading woman and heads an unusually capable supporting cast of players.

THOMAS MEIGHAN PICTURE AT TEMPLE TOMORROW.

Thomas Meighan, Paramount star, is authority for the statement that "The Bachelor Daddy," his latest picture, which tomorrow begins a three-day engagement at the Temple theater, is photographically perfect.

Meighan says the picture was "shot" by two expert cameramen, William Marshall and Gilbert Warrenton. Marshall turned the camera for George Melford's production, "The Sheik," and Warrenton photographed "Humoresque." The combined knowledge of these two men was utilized in the photographing of Meighan's new picture, which was filmed under the direction of Alfred Green. It was adapted by Olga Printzlau from "The Proxy Daddy," a novel by Edward Peple.

PREDICTS INCREASE IN COST OF MOVIES

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—Joseph M. Schenck, producer of the Talmadge and Buster Keaton features, is scheduled to arrive here Sunday.

In a message received here today, Schenck said he believed better pictures will be the order of the day due to the progressive competition between the independent and highly organized producers.

"The two things the east wants," said Schenck, "are the confinement of settings to the atmosphere of the story and a more refreshing treatment of plot. Far from meaning the cheapening of the cost of sets, this will mean that sets will be costlier because in matching the tone of the story they will be more artistically executed."

A theater has been installed on board a French liner.

WOMEN BATTLE FOR BASEBALL MAN'S LOVE

The marital tangle of R. P. Collins, professional baseball player, who was arrested at Ontario on bad check charges, on the eve of a honeymoon with Miss Dorothy Martinez, wife No. 2, to whom he was wed here by Justice J. B. Cox, today had developed into a battle for his love between Miss Martinez, and Mrs. Mitzie Collins, wife No. 1.

When the bad check charges against him were dismissed, Collins faced his two wives, and chose to depart with pretty Mitzie.

In tears, Miss Martinez had offered her friendship to wife No. 1. "If he loves you more than he does me, you can have him," Miss Martinez was quoted as saying to Mrs. Collins.

"I will never give him up," sobbed Mrs. Collins in response, as she and Collins departed.

But once again the baseball shiek had a change of heart, according to Miss Martinez, who said that he left wife No. 1 at the Y. W. C. A. at San Bernardino and returned to her last night. This was in spite of the fact that Mrs. Martinez had been dismissed at her request.

The other girl has promised to secure a divorce, according to the second wife.

"He did not turn me down," she insisted. "He went with Mitzie because she was his legal wife and he wanted to do what is right. I want him to do that."

"He told me last night that he still loved me. As soon as things can be straightened out we will be married again."

CONTESTANTS APPEAL

WINONA, Minn., April 17.—Contestants of the will of Mark R. Campbell of St. Charles will take an appeal to the district court, it was announced following admission to probate of the will, disposing of a $55,000 estate, by Probate Judge R. E. Looby. Four grandchildren of Mr. Campbell, who are bequeathed $2,000 each from the estate, are contesting the will.

"Since my accident, I know the real peril of reckless and ignorant motorists, and I'm going to put a stop to it. I have to deal out 90-day jail sentences."

It was Justice J. B. Cox, speed nemesis, speaking, and he was speaking with more than his ordinary vehemence.

"One may feel sorry for another man injured," Cox explained, "but it is not until one is hurt, and his life is endangered, that he realizes the real enormity of the situation caused by careless drivers."

Cox was run down by an automobile while he was alighting from a trolley car several weeks ago, and was severely bruised and cut.

"I don't think that I am biased since the accident," Cox stated. "I will, however, be more strict in the enforcement of the motor laws, and fewer excuses will avail anything from now on."

Cox set his plan into motion this week, when he added five days to the usual ten-day sentence which he imposes on drivers found guilty of coasting along faster than 50 miles an hour. G. A. Mark drew the first 15-day sentence.

"I'm going to put a stop to the hair raising driving of these motorists and numskulls that sit behind the wheels of automobiles laying a heavy foot on an accelerator, a light hand on the wheels, and support a lighter head on their shoulders."

"The individual case has a lot to do with determining the sentence," he concluded, "but from now on the length and severity of the punishment will increase until reckless driving decreases."

STRAWBERRY PRICES ARE STEADY IN S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—Local strawberries sold generally at yesterday's figure and about 30 chests were received by truck. Approximately 400 crates of southern berries were received and sold at $2.75 to $3 per crate. Asparagus receipts were lighter today but little change in prices was reported. Dealers, however, found it possible to sell a greater number of boxes at the higher figures given. Market receipts amounted to 1500 boxes. Bay rhubarb is now selling from $1.25 to $1.75 per box. There now appears to be a scarcity of fancy rhubarb. Dealers are generally loaded up on Mexican tomatoes as receipts

The market is steady to firm on fancy Leghorn hens which are selling from 23 to 25 cents per pound. Fryers weighing from 2 to 2 1/2 pounds continue in light supply and will no doubt bring 50 cents, or above on this market. Express receipts amounted to 115 coops of live poultry and 424 pounds of dressed poultry.

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, April 19.—Price movements again today suggested that the market had succeeded in correcting its internal position and was pushing into a resumption of the bull swing which was interrupted by the technical setback of the last month. Stocks in the general list continue to give the impression of ample reserve power and the upward tendency spread to include numerous issues whose recent fluctuations had been characterized by irregularity. While the operation for the rise in the railroad group were less pronounced in the previous session, the forward movement went ahead under the leadership of Union Pacific, which reached new high levels on the current advance. With the internal situation in railroad stocks apparently adjusted in satisfactory style, confidence spread in the speculative community and the tone of the general market was the best exhibited in recent weeks. Buoyancy in sugars in the early dealings was dampened by the suit instituted by the government, but the way these stocks dropped back demonstrated that Wall street could not be convinced regarding the possibility of economic laws. ## GRAIN PRICES HIGH ON CHICAGO BOARD

(By United Press Leased Wire) CHICAGO, April 19.—Grain prices closed strong and higher on the board of trade today as a result of unfavorable crop estimates. The deferred deliveries in wheat led in strength. Winter wheat acreage abandonment will approximate 15.2 per cent, according to estimates of private experts. Trading in corn was small. Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma reported high winds, causing dust storms resulting in considerable damage. Weather otherwise was favorable for field work. Provisions, after showing a weak undertone throughout the day, rallied toward the close, with the strength in grains.

HYGIENE and PLUMBING

At no time in the world's history, have we given so much thought to HYGIENE. This fact is reflected in everything about us. The food we eat; the clothes we wear; the games we play; the houses we live in; in fact in everything in life today.

Man takes better care of himself than he did in the past. He watches his diet; takes care of his body; preserves his energy. He keeps fit. He golfs, he exercises, he motors in the fresh air. He lives more in the outdoors. He thinks of his health.

In all these things, nothing plays so important a part as Modern High-Class Plumbing.

To be healthy, happy and successful think first of the PLUMBING in your home. Select it YOURSELF. Buy it direct. Do business only with a member of the Sanitary Development League. It is composed of over 200 modern successful plumbers in Southern California. They know their business and will treat you fairly. The League is behind them and their work.

Their primary purpose is the discounting of first class commercial paper. ## RUTH DRIVES LONG HOMER IN OPENER

Greatest Crowd In History Of Baseball Sees Yank Slugger "Come-Back"

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, April 19.—One prodigious swipe that would have been a homer in the sandy expanse of Sahara has brought Babe Ruth back. The probabilities are he will go greater than ever this season.

The Babe, lean of waist and keen of eye, looked with almost childish awe at 74,200 fans gathered in the mammoth new Yankee stadium before the opening game yesterday with the Red Sox and remarked to one of his mates on the bench:

"I'd give one year of my life to connect today."

He connected as he never connected before and he received a demonstration, the like which was never witnessed or heard before. Led by the gray-thatched Judge Landis, who rose in his box and tossed his hat into the air, the crowd went hysterical and the Babe almost wept with joy.

"The big fellow may hit a hundred homers this season. I know he's back on his stride, and when he's right, there are no limits to him," Miller Huggins, manager of the Yanks said.

Babe Confident Now

"Nothing could have been better for him than to get a homer before that crowd because he tried as he never tried before and he succeeded. He is all confidence now. It has been the mental worry of trying to get back in his stride that has been bothering him. You just watch him."

The whole Yankee team felt the same way. That one blow may be the one that will bring a third pennant to the Yanks.

The first time at bat Ruth fussed around in the box and started with a choked swing. He was shifting his position and when he did connect, it was a towering fly to right field.

WATCH BAD HABITS IN GOLF IS ADVICE OF FAMOUS PLAYER

MIKE BRADY

BY MIKE BRADY

(Western Open Champion)

To any beginner in golf my first advice would be to take at least a few lessons from a professional.

That may sound like propaganda for myself and my brother professionals, but it is born of the fact that bad habits in golf, once acquired, are the hardest things imaginable to shake off.

The toughest situation a professional faces is to try to make over a man's game when that man has taken up the game blindly, with the idea that there is no more science or secret to hitting a golf ball correctly than there is to swinging an umbrella head at a pebble.

When a bad stroke becomes second nature to a golfer, and he goes to a professional to straighten him out, it takes all the patience the professional can muster and all the practice the player can give to eradicate the fault.

Golf is a flatterer and a deceiver. A man goes out for the first time, hits the ball surprisingly well and plays so excellently his first time around that he fondly believes he is on the road to become a first-class player.

He may do well for a few rounds, but suddenly everything seems to go wrong and he hasn't the slightest idea what is the matter.

Now while there is no professional living who can make a good golfer out of everybody who goes to him for lessons, he can teach certain fundamentals and start him on the right road.

Lots of men say that they have taken up the game for fun and exercise only, but human nature is human nature, and any man would rather play well than poorly.

(A series of "tips" on how golf should be played, as written by Mike Brady, famous professional at the Oakland Hills club at Detroit, will appear from day to day on the sporting page of The Register.)

Jack Scott, Giant pitcher, hit a homer and a single and helped down the Boston Braves, 7 to 4.

Ivy Olson's single in the ninth completed a five run rally and the Brooklyn Robins won from the Phils, 6 to 5.

Kelleher hit a homer for the Cubs.

IMAN, GEORGE MILL TO DRAW AT DELHI

Alex McDonald Has Edge On Kid Louie But Fray Is Caid Even

DELHI RESULTS.

Jack Iman, Young George—draw.
Kid Louie, Alex McDonald, draw.

Young Sheller won from Terry Adams, decision.
George Gilmore, Battling Doty, draw.

Toby Montoya won from Young Monroe, decision.
Bobby Herman stopped Kid Cuba, second round.

Tony Ross won from Eddie Doolis, decision.

By RINGSIDER.

While the ringside gang was squirming its way out of the Delhi arena last night, some bozo was heard to remark that "Jack Iman never fought better than he did tonight."

After giving that statement consideration, its truth seemed more and more apparent. Iman was in the ring with a tough old warhorse, a former idol of the Vernon fans, a rough and rugged puncher—Young George. But he gave him all that he wanted, mixed with him throughout and pulled down a popular draw decision.

It was not a sensational battle. There was action enough but the boys didn't waste much energy in missing. The first canto was even.

Iman took the second and George the third. They began the last frame fifty-fifty and finished that way. George landed his "dynamite" right once, staggering the Santa Ana middleweight, but Iman came back strongly and was forcing the fighting when the bell tapped.

Kid Louie was too busy to grandstand through his fray with the clever Alex McDonald. Referee Tommy Quinlan called it a draw but McDonald had an edge.

It was the first time at Delhi that anyone ever made Louie look slow but that's what he did. McDonald had the Placencia bantam-weight missing continually.

The best mill of the evening was wished up by the feature prize-liminary boys, Terry Adams and Young Sheller. Many of the bugs panned Quinlan for his decision but it was right for Sheller did most of the leading and he scored a clean knockout in the first round.

Battling Doty and George Gilmore milled through four horseshoe rounds to a draw. Doty did most of the leading. He seldom found the mark, however, and Gilmore's superior in-fighting entitled him to an even-Stephen verdict.

Bud Garber didn't show for his tilt with Toby Montoya and the ever-present Young Monroe filled in fairly well. It was probably well for Toby that Garber didn't arrive as the Placencia boy didn't have so much on Monroe at that.

Bobby Herman had a set-up in the dusky little U. S. C. 110-pounder, Kid Cuba, and pounded him into submission in the second round. Cuba wasn't out but the affair was so one-sided that Quinlan did well in calling it off.

Tony Ross knew too much for Eddie Doolis, the Santa Ana boy who was in the ring for the second time in his life. Doolis kept fairly even until the third when Ross cut loose and piled up a big lead. Doolis showed a lot of gameness in sticking through that fearful canto and he came back in the fourth to hold his own.

A match with Wilde offers Villa an unusual opportunity. If he emerged from such a meeting the winner it would create a peculiar situation in Estima.

By defeating Wilde, Villa would become world flyweight champion. Villa recently lost a very questionable decision to Frankie Genaro, and with it the American flyweight championship.

Such a situation would give Villa the highest possible rating in the flyweight division despite the fact that he had previously suffered defeat by Genaro.

Needling a little batting practice, the Santa Ana Edison company baseball team yesterday afternoon traveled to Orange and defeated the high school nine there by the score of 16 to 3.

The Orange team nipped Barry McPhee, local heater, for a trio of markers in the initial canto but were unable to touch him thereafter.

"Toughy" Tyrrell's batting eye was in good trim, the Los Angeles recruit pounding out two home runs and two two-baggers in four trips to the platter.

Ed Cutting the Sacramento boy who was with the Angels until recently, has gone to work for the Santa Ana "Edies." He was stationed at first base yesterday.

Kid Louie wore Joe Chaney's boxing trunks but Chaney himself wasn't present. The Whittier boxer took a beating at San Diego, according to press reports. He was stopped in the third round by "Frisco" Lewis.

Tommy Aguerre of Huntington Beach challenged the winner of the Monroe-Montoya fight. Aguerre would do better against Monroe than Montoya.

Billy Evans Says:

Who will be the next featherweight champion?

Will the aging Kilbane be able to maintain his superiority which has been but little tested for several years.

I was in New York when Eugene Criqui arrived from France to contest for the featherweight title. While I didn't get it straight from Criqui, since he speaks no English, I learned from one of his many interpreters that the European champion was a much disappointed young man.

Criqui finds himself in the rather unusual position of being a champion without a championship match that he thought was all but cut and dried.

Here's the how:

Criqui came to this country to meet Johnny Kilbane for the featherweight title. Prior to sailing he had accepted terms for such a bout. Now he finds such a meeting impossible.

Kilbane is under suspension by the New York boxing commission. It had been planned to hold the bout at the Polo grounds in New York City. In order to be reinstated in New York Kilbane must first meet Johnny Dundee. In order to be eligible for the Criqui bout he must also defeat Dundee.

On the surface that doesn't seem to be asking very much of a champion. Going deeper into the proposition it looms up as a rather large task.

Kilbane is four years older than Dundee. Kilbane has fought but little in the past three or four years. Dundee just about leads all the prominent fighters of the country in keeping busy.

I fear Kilbane would have his troubles with Dundee. Such a happening would queer the proposed bout with Criqui.

There seems to be considerable difference as to the condition of Jimmy Wilde, the world's flyweight champion.

Jack Sharkey, who recently returned from abroad, said that Wilde has taken on much weight and had told him that he would never fight again.

Freddie Welsh, former light-weight champion of the universe, takes issue with Sharkey's version of Wilde's condition and intentions.

SANTA ANA, TUSTIN GAME IS POSTPONED

Poly Field Scene of Much Activity as Big Track Meet Draws Near

With Captain Ted Coffman and Earl Jabs, two of the mainstays of the club, on their way north to see the annual "big meet" between the Stanford and California track squads, the Santa Ana high school baseball team today had postponed its Orange league fray with the Tustin high school aggregation tomorrow until next week.

Coffman and Jabs left yesterday for Berkeley where they will inspect the state university with a view to continuing their education there after their graduation from the local school.

The Tustin nine is regarded as one of the strongest in the league and with two of his best men out of the way, Coach Orion Neff of the locals requested Coach Earl Murray of Tustin to postpone the affair. Murray courteously agreed to the arrangement.

Three league tilts will be played tomorrow, according to schedule. Anaheim will move to Huntington Beach to tackle the oil city slug-gers, Capistrano travels to Garden Grove and Orange goes to Whittier. Fullerton draws a bye.

With the Southern California interscholastic meet, to be held here a week from Saturday, drawing near, both Ray Adkinson and Ray Walker, coach of the Santa Ana and Huntington Beach teams, were putting their entries in the classic through their daily paces.

Walker had his men working out on the Santa Ana track yesterday and will bring them here again tomorrow. The Fullerton team also will work out here, it was understood.

On the surface that doesn't seem to be asking very much of a champion. Going deeper into the proposition it looms up as a rather large task.

BIG LEAGUERS SMACK 11 CIRCUIT CLOUTS

NEW YORK, April 19.—Symptoms of another home run and slugging epidemic in the major leagues were apparent after yesterday's big time games. There have been eleven homers smacked in the season so far, seven in the National league and four in the American.

Needling a little batting practice, the Santa Ana Edison company baseball team yesterday afternoon traveled to Orange and defeated the high school nine there by the score of 16 to 3.

The Orange team nipped Barry McPhee, local heater, for a trio of markers in the initial canto but were unable to touch him thereafter.

"Toughy" Tyrrell's batting eye was in good trim, the Los Angeles recruit pounding out two home runs and two two-baggers in four trips to the platter.

Ed Cutting the Sacramento boy who was with the Angels until recently, has gone to work for the Santa Ana "Edies." He was stationed at first base yesterday.

Kid Louie wore Joe Chaney's boxing trunks but Chaney himself wasn't present. The Whittier boxer took a beating at San Diego, according to press reports. He was stopped in the third round by "Frisco" Lewis.

Tommy Aguerre of Huntington Beach challenged the winner of the Monroe-Montoya fight. Aguerre would do better against Monroe than Montoya.

EDDIE SUDDEN REGISTERS STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal. April 19.—Eddie Sudden, star sprinter, has returned to Stanford but will be ineligible for competition in the meet with California Saturday it was announced today.

SHADE, REEVES DRAW OAKLAND, April 19.—Billy Shade and Jack Reeves boxed a furious four-round draw here last night.

$80,000 THEATER BUILDING TO BE BEST IN HUNTINGTON BEACH

The Huntington Beach improvement company will erect this building at the corner of Fifth and Orange streets. The theater on the main floor will seat 900 people. There will also be business offices on the same floor. On the second floor there will be hotel rooms.

NEW SCHOOL AT NEWPORT BIG STEP AHEAD

NEWPORT BEACH, April 19.—The letting of the contract for the new grammar school building is another step in line with the thousands of dollars of public improvements now going on or contemplated here.

Competition Keen. Competition on the bidding was keen, about thirty contractors being in the race for the job, the bids ranging from $57,000 to $71,000. Owing to lack of funds, due to the fact that the bond issue voted for, was found to be insufficient owing to the higher cost of materials, etc., all the work contemplated will not be done at this time.

The contract accepted by the board of trustees provides for the building of four class rooms to be ready for use next September. It was found that the interior finish of the Auditorium to seat 600 could not be completed and that it will be necessary to omit a library, kindergarten and toilets at this time. The installation of heating, lighting and plumbing must also be abandoned.

Capacity Taxed. The rapid growth of the city is already taxing the capacity of the present buildings and it is believed that the new addition will be fully occupied when school opens next fall.

An effort will be made to present the issue to the people of the district in an effort to secure an auditorium with a seating capacity of 600 together with a motion picture booth and other up-to-date features, so desirable in present-day schools.

Medieval Garb Worn at Wedding.

LONDON, April 18.—Twelfth century styles and manners were adopted recently as the background to a fashionable London wedding. The bride wore a dress designed after the period and carried the once famous court train, held by two pages. Her attendants were children, four pages and four bridesmaids. The boys were dressed in the quaint twelfth century hose and jerkin of blue and silver brocade with silver belts, and the girls wore long frocks of white and silver brocade and the headresses of tall, sugar-loaf style.

Plans also have been drawn for the Kramer building here, a structure costing several hundred thousand dollars.

ELECTION DATE DECIDED UPON BY TRUSTEES

ORANGE, April 19.—With the ordering of the publication of a legal notice to appraise land owners in the district of the forthcoming event, the city board in regular session yesterday afternoon fixed the date of a special election on annexation of land, comprising approximately one hundred acres, west of the city.

The annexation vote will be held Friday, May 18, in the territory seeking to become a part of this city.

Pick Voting Place. A voting place will be designated as the time for the election approaches.

Only persons residing in the territory included in the annexation scheme will vote, those living in the city not being required to visit the polls during the day, it was announced.

If the electors of the annexation area approve the inclusion of that territory in the city, the city board, acting for city residents, will confirm the election outcome.

Limits Given. The territory included in the proposed annexation scheme lies between the theoretic prolongation of Almond avenue and Parker avenue starting at Batavia street, thence westward to "Little Main" street, south to Chapman avenue, west to Main street and south along Main to the Stewart ranch.

The inclusion of this strip of land in the corporate limits of Orange will mark, it has been definitely announced, the development of a considerable portion of the territory for subdivision purposes.

It also would give residential property in the annexation area all city benefits including better municipal water facilities, sewers, street lights and probably an illuminated arch across West Chapman avenue near Main street where the words "Orange" electrically lighted will flash an inviting beacon to passing motorists.

Approximately fifty registered voters reside in the district, twenty-four of whom have signed a petition for annexation to Orange.

Art Ledzloff has installed a radio set at 165 South Glassell street for the benefit of Ed. Richardson who has been confined to a dark room for the past five weeks with ulcers of the eyes.

START PICTURE OF ORANGE GROWING

ORANGE, April 19.—"The Power Behind the Orange" is the temporary title of a motion picture to be made in the citrus groves of Orange county and Southern California by a harvester manufacturing company for distribution through its agencies over the United States, according to plans made public here today by J. E. Wagner, advertising editor of the company in Los Angeles.

With the co-operation of M. Elstie of this city the taking of the picture has already been started and will continue this week in groves around Orange, Anaheim, Santa Ana, Tustin and Olive. The film is to be 1000 feet in length although much more footage than that will be taken before the complete reel is put together.

Beginning with the preparation of the ground the film will trace an orange through to the table of the consumer in the east. A number of scenes are to be taken in the eastern markets.

Mr. Wagner announced that the following steps would be considered: rough field, level land, planting, cultivation, disc plowing, disc harrowing, cultivating, sub-soiling, irrigation furrowing, irrigation, fumigating, spraying, picking, packing house, shipping, food preparation.

The Santiago packing house in Orange, reputed to be one of the largest in the world, if not the largest, will be the scene for several shots. Local growers and distributing agencies are doing everything possible to assist in the filming as they realize the value of the advertising that will come to Orange county itself as well as through exploitations of the citrus industry over the nation.

How Backache and Periodic Pains Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Olean, N. Y. "Every month my blood would go to my head and I would have a headache, nose-bleed, backache and pains that I could not do my work. At night I could not get my rest and nothing seemed to do me any good. I read some of your testimonials about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and I decided to try it. I had only taken two bottles when I began to be better, and my back did not hurt me nor my head ache. I felt like a new woman. The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine and I will always recommend it. Mrs. A. D. Ewars, 330 N. 3d St., Olean, N. Y.

CHAPTER I

Bodine Buys a Ranch

"The scorching rays of the noon-day sun beat down upon the Nevada desert.

Across the waste two tiny specks moved. Save for them all life seemed dead. Both horses and men were gray with dust. The men's throats were hoarse with dryness, and yet the taller of the two hummed a song. Ahead of them green trees beckoned.

As they began climbing the bench lands. The country of the Little Washoe burst upon them. Paradise Valley spread out in a gigantic horseshoe. A range, the Santa Rosas, banked three sides of it, the never-failing creek came tumbling out of the hills at the apex of the horseshoe.

Three-thirty as he was, the tall man stopped for a brief rest to appraise that wonderful valley.

"Ain't that a sweet country, Shorty?" he murmured to the short, bandy-legged man, hard of face and slow of speech, who rode beside him.

Shorty's answer was a grunt. He glanced with a trace of annoyance at the sun, whistled. Buck.

The grass was good in the buttes. They camped there. For two nights they had watched the twinkling lights which marked the little town of Paradise. The lure was insistent, and on the third evening they rode into the town and on to Benavides' bar.

Buck and Shorty edged to the bar and waited. One-eyed Manuel, the Mexican bartender, was busy elsewhere. The delay irked Bodine. Gutching the butt of his glowing cigar between thumb and forefinger, he shot it straight as a bullet into Manuel's face.

Manuel's hand trembled as he set out the glasses for the two strangers. He smiled evilly.

The incident and the quite unnoticed by the crowd. Wash Taylor, a ragged old mule-skinner, had been one of the very few to observe it. He laughed immoderately. When Buck bade him drink, he acquiesced with alacrity.

Bodine drew from the old skinner the complete history of the valley.

"A sort of lookin' round for a place, Buck was saying. 'If I could find a small ranch hereabouts at the right price, I might be interested.'"

"The only place for sale in this hull valley is the old Webster ranch. No water there at all now. Used to be plenty in the old days."

Wash drained his glass.

"He's runnin' a store down in Golconda, accordin' to last reports."

Shorty and Buck came down from the hills and camped at the deserted ranch. On the morning of the second day Buck called Shorty to his side.

"I'm going into Winnemucca and have a look at the county records. If old Webster made a fling on his water rights, I'm going to buy him out. If I go to Golconda to see Webster, I may be gone a week. You wait a week. If I don't come back by then, you find Gloomy and go over into the Malheur Lake country."

The days later Bodine returned. Behind him, a freighter, bringing the tools and necessities of life. Shorty shook his head. No need to ask; Bodine had done as he had said he would.

CHAPTER II

Bodine Buys a Ranch

In a thinly settled country, where every man's movements are marked, news spreads quickly. People talked and wondered about Bodine's return.

Of all those who watched and wondered, no one was more interested than Dick Acklin, the Big Boss of the Double A. He had been quite content to see old man Webster go. For ten years the Double A had taken both its own and his share of water from Rebel Creek.

He stood it as long as he could; and then, instead of hearing Bodine, he rode to the Rancho Buena Vista to see the Senor Arrascaeta. Jose was the most powerful of the Basque gente.

The quiet, half-darkened house was a relief to Acklin after the noise and glare of the Bull's Head. Jose led him to the patio, where the old man seemed eternally playing. The old man clasped his hands, and the wrinkled, leathery Mariano, his mazo, or house-boy, came on the run. Jose sent him for refreshments.

"By the way," and Acklin's big, blue eyes contracted until they seemed to shade to gray, "have you seen the fellow who bought the old Webster place?"

"Several times. He's here today, down at the corral. Estabanan and the vaqueros are breaking horses."

"A little tot of six, unnoticed by them as they talked, had felt his way upon the veranda. He was a beautiful child. His brown, staring eyes made a mute appeal to friend and foe.

For close to five years, Jose had been both father and mother to the little Blind Basilio.

From the fence at the end of the patio, a maple scolded in raucous tones. Basilio knew that particular maple. In a flash he slid off the steps and ran down the gravelled walk of the patio.

When he had almost reached the far corner of the vine-covered fence, black head bobbed up beyond it, and calling again, dashed up a side-path of the garden, with the boy in keen pursuit. It was the Senorita Mercedes.

In answer to her father's call she came up the steps truculently, the boy hanging on to the ribbons of her dress.

The old Basque caught up Basilio and said goodbye to his guest, pleading the need of his presence elsewhere. Jose knew that extreme youth and age are not hand-maidens to love.

Acklin held up a small package. He waved it in front of her eyes, as one does with a toy for a child. Mercedes clasped her hands joyfully.

"You like me so much, mister?" she said.

"You know I do. This little present came all the way from the city."

"City?" in that country meant San Francisco.

From the tissue-paper, Mercedes drew forth a tiny vanity-case. She tried to release the small compartment that held the powder-puff. Acklin reached out his hand to help her. She felt his fingers pressing her own. In a flash she jerked her hand away.

"You're foxy, huh, like the Senor Bodine?" she cried.

"Oh, damn Bodine," Acklin rasped out.

"Eavesdroppers hear no good of themselves," a voice answered in unctuous sweetness.

Mercedes and Acklin turned. Bodine lounged against a pillar at the end of the veranda.

"I sure didn't know I was intruding on any party, Senorita. I just came up to say goodbye. I broke that bad gray for Esteban. That caballo'll be gentle enough for you to ride now."

Acklin got to his feet.

"Well, I guess I'll get my hat and run along," he said, in that tired way which was common with him.

"Which way you going?" Bodine asked.

"Back to the Bull's Head."

"I'll side you as far as the Webster, if you have no objection."

"No harm in that," Acklin answered.

CHAPTER III

Two Schemers Meet

Buck was the first to break the silence.

These foreigners seem to be damned prosperous around here, don't they? From your nest at the Bull's Head, these ranches down here must look pretty sweet. What a place this valley would be to fatten up a few calves. Now, if you could have had it for a son of a gun."

Bodine clucked his tongue at the pit of it.

"Well?"

"Those Basques have got the water that belongs to me by rights. You know that, Acklin."

"Why don't you go after it, then?"

"I'm going after it. Don't let that worry you. And if you are half as wise as I think you are, Acklin, I'll get it."

"You and I can get every inch of water there is in this creek. And we'll make the law help us. I'll get the water I need, and you'll get enough to irrigate the entire valley of the valley. Now, if you're willing to talk turkey, you come to my place in the morning. Think it over. No need telling you what I've got on my mind, if you're not interested. . . . Adios."

Acklin rode on. When he reached the Bull's Head he retired to the little room that served him as a study, and he smoked many pipefuls as he pondered over the astuteness of Mr. Bodine.

In the clean blue and white morning Acklin rode to Webster Creek.

"All right, Acklin," Bodine answered in reply to the other's question. "I'll put my cards on the table. Here I've been, I'm going to turn the creek over to you for a son of a gun. I've been over the spot where the creeks used to fork a hundred times. Nature changed that water in one night. I'll do it quicker than that. There is nothing but sand and small rock there. Two days after it is done, no man on earth can prove that old lady Nature didn't twist it for the second time. My boys will do it in a day or so, they'll do this job. They won't talk either. I'll tip you on the night I intend to do it. You be there, or send your foreman. Just so I'll know I don't stand alone."

Bodine bent over and picked up a stick. With it he drew in the sand at his feet a rough map of the valley.

"The almost due east from here to the old forks of these creeks. But right here, just as Webster Creek neared the other one, it turned north. For almost half a mile they paralleled each other before they met. Your line follows this creek across the valley, only it keeps straight on right into those foothills. That means that Webster Creek flowed through your property for that half mile. That's right, ain't it?"

ORANGE PREACHER PRESENTS BIBLE

ORANGE, April 19.—With the purchase this week of vacant property located in the center of the local business district, another new business structure became a certainty.

Acting as negotiating party for Mrs. Margaret A. Clarkson, the Rev. Percy W. Clarkson, pastor of the Episcopal church, this city, purchased the business property owned by E. F. Wickersham, located on South Glassell street.

Although the pastor who is handling details in connection with the transaction for Mrs. Clarkson, has not made any definite announcement whether he will build, those in touch with the deal declared it was almost certain he will.

The property has a thirty-foot frontage on Glassell street and a depth of 132 feet. If a business structure is erected, the final link making that block a solid business block will have been forged.

NO it isn't a car or show—it's a home—built for a bride. I have sold this type several times to honeymooners and "they lived happily ever after." I have a few of these type—The Honeymooners Five. The convenience, cleanliness, all round attractiveness of this home should insure its owners "living happily ever after." It's just finished in tomorrow. It has all the sturdiness of construction characteristic of DIXON'S DURABLE. It's a seven and six room home with new carpeting, (P. S.—I MIGHT consider selling it to other honeymooners.)

EVENING SALUTATION

The sentiment of justice is so natural, so universally acquired, by all mankind, that it seems to me independent of all law, all party, all religion.

—Voltaire.

OLYMPICS COMING IN '32

The Olympic games for 1932 will be held in Los Angeles. This may seem like a good while to wait, but it was the first date which could be secured.

It was hoped to have either the 1924 or 1928 games held in the new Los Angeles stadium, but the Olympic committee felt that economic conditions would make it difficult for European competitors to finance an American invasion until later, so Paris gets the first and Amsterdam the second.

Los Angeles in offering the invitation did so in the name of all America, and rightfully. All America will be glad to see the games there. This will be the second time since the Olympic revival that they have been held in this country. The last time was at St. Louis in 1904 and American talent swept the field.

The beautiful Los Angeles stadium, with a seating capacity of 75,000, will offer an ideal setting for the games. Having them there will help also to bring western American athletic talent to the front. It has been held in some quarters that deserved recognition was too slow in coming to the athletes of this section.

THE WAR DAMAGE BILL

The German agent in the Mixed Claims Commission has been informed that the American war damage bill will be approximately $1,186,736,867. This amount includes claims of American citizens for loss of life and property, or for injuries suffered in the sinking of the Lusitania. It includes also claims of American nationals for losses suffered in other countries for which Germany is held responsible.

Judged by the amount involved, this is the largest law case in the history of the country. In spite of the many factors involved, it is said the American claims have been so systematized for presentation that the Claims Commission will have hardly any preparatory work to do before considering them. Some of the cases may be subject to slight revision either up or down before final settlement is made.

Much of the damage for which redress will be sought in these suits was wrought while this country and Germany were still presumably at peace. Few claims against Germany are more rightfully presented. Nevertheless the Germans will hardly welcome this billion added to the demands already made upon them. It is about the last thing the German militarists ever figured on when they started the war.

CELLULOID-MADE EYES

A Petrograd doctor reports that he has developed a method of treating diseased eyes by which he believes half the blind people in the world might be made to see.

He operates on the eyeball, cutting away the diseased parts in front; and then, if the nerve at the back of the eye is sound, as it usually is, he slips over the front a transparent celluloid cup. That admits the light and protects the organ, and usually the patient can see. It is said to succeed often with patients born blind.

Prof. Katz, the doctor referred to, is working in a government hospital, with no money, no medical assistance and only two nurses and a scrubwoman, laboring 20 hours a day to make his discovery available to mankind. A staff correspondent of the New York World vouches for some of the cures reported.

It is wonderful, if curing blindness is so simple as that, and shameful if poverty and misgovernment keep the cure from the world's millions who are in need of it.

A SWAT FOR "HUMAN FLIES"

"Human flies" will scale no more walls in New York city. An ordinance has just been passed which provides that the individual who undertakes any such hair-raising performance shall be arrested and liable for fine and imprisonment.

This ordinance was passed following the death of Harry Young who fell while climbing up the wall of the Hotel Martinique. It is a sort of legislation which should prevail in all localities concerning those risky undertakings which jeopardize human life without offering any constructive purpose. We have had several "human fly" afflictions in Santa Ana.

There are risks which are nobly undertaken. That of the "human fly" is not one. Neither are many of the endurance and speed races. Neither are the long-distance dancing contests and all the kindred exploits which uselessly take toll of muscle, nerve and brain. Such exhibitions are one with the breast slashing and hot-coal dancing of the savage, save that they have not even the palliation of religious fanaticism.

LEFT-HANDED, LEFT-EYED

A Boston eye specialist said in a recent lecture that changing a left-handed child into a right-handed one as is often done, particularly in the public schools, is apt to have bad effect upon the child's eyesight.

"Ninety-five per cent of the race," said the doctor, "have a dominant eye, just as they have a dominant hand. It is a curious fact that the dominance of the eye follows the dominance of the hand." It has been the doctor's experience that the visual effect involved in changing the hand habit often results in eye strain.

This is a thing perhaps not very widely appreciated. It is better that a person naturally left-handed should be taught to use his right hand freely also, because most of the implements and arrangements for everyday living are calculated for the right-handed. But the doctor's warning indicates that the correction of left-handedness, like the correction of any other abnormality, should be done under the direction of authorities familiar with all phases of the condition.

SAFETY BY SLOGAN

Washington, D. C., is conducting a poster slogan campaign for safety. It has been running since March 16. Each week a new slogan is posted in specially constructed holders erected in all parts of the city, and in the street cars.

The first of these warnings read, "The Reckless Driver is a Criminal." The next remarked, "The Jaywalker is Taking a Short Cut to the Hospital." The last suggests, "Better be Careful than Crippled." More will follow.

It is a pungent way of driving the safety lesson home, and while we are about it, why not devise a few ourselves? For instance—"Tell it to the Judge Tomorrow Morning," or "You May Talk Back to the Traffic Cop, but You Can't Talk Back to the Undertaker." "The Angel Gabriel Cocks a Mean Ear at the Newcomer with a Poor Excuse," should be equally suggestive to reckless speeder or reckless pedestrian.

The only danger is that the old contempt-breeding influence of familiarity may weaken the punch after a time. But long dissertations and more involved processes for educating the public in safety have not been conspicuously successful. Perhaps the pithier method may be more effective.

When the man of forty-five hears the tailor give his belt measure he knows why they call it "middle" life.

Marketing Co-operatively

San Bernardino Sun.

That part of California for which Fresno is a center is in the throes of the most notable campaign that has stirred it in years—not political but economical. When the Merchants Association of a thriving city such as Fresno decrees a holiday on a business day, as has been done for tomorrow, it may well be reasoned that something is at stake, and the Fresnoans think so.

For a number of years the raisin crop of the San Joaquin Valley has been handled through a co-operative organization known as the Sun Maid Raisin Growers. This has been to the raisin growers what the California Fruit Growers Exchange is to the citrus fruit growers, except that the membership on the part of the raisin growers has been much more nearly 100 per cent. The association has financed, advertised and marketed the crops, to the great profit of the raisin growers, who have been marvelously prosperous in recent years, other growers also profiting by the maintained prices even though they were not members of the organization.

But a time came when the association must be reorganized, refinanced and additional acreage signed up, and if we may judge from the San Joaquin Valley papers, the situation is more or less critical, and so much is involved that the Fresno merchants have agreed to shut up shop tomorrow and devote the entire day to the sale of stock and to the signing up of acreage, to put the association on a firm basis. The same report comes from Visalia, from Kern County, and from all parts of the valley where its enormous raisin crop is produced, and the Fresno Republican is authority for the statement that unless the campaign to dispose of $2,500,000 in stock, and to sign up a satisfactory percentage of the raisin acreage succeeds, 100,000 tons of raisins now in warehouses will be thrown on the market at auction, the market will "go to pot," and there will be no fun in the raisin growers' horoscope for the immediate future.

San Bernardino County is slightly interested, for we produce some raisins, although the industry is small by comparison with others here, or with the total raisin crop of the State. But the rather surprising fact is stated that no Sun Maid stock has been held by local growers, nor is an acre of San Bernardino County vineyard signed up under the growers' agreement. There can be no doubt at all that vineyardists in this county have profited greatly by the operations of the association, for raisins were not a particularly profitable crop before the San Joaquin Valley growers were organized.

Marathon Dancing Foolish

Long Beach Press.

A new form of idleness has broken out. The Marathon dance is engrossing the attention of a number of persons who have more gumption in their feet than in their heads. A New York girl danced fifty hours continuously. This set the ball of foolishness rolling. In Cleveland another girl started in the break this marathon record—and she did, going more than fifty-two hours.

Of what use is all this? If a girl were required, by her mother, to work for an hour in the kitchen—a girl of this dancing type would have a conundrum fit, no doubt, and might threaten to go into a tight room and turn on the gas to end her insufferable woes. But this type of girl is ready and eager to endanger her health and life and make a silly show of herself by trying for Marathon dancing records.

The Board of Aldermen of New York City recently passed an ordinance prohibiting "human flies" from engaging in dangerous climbing of walls of high buildings. This is a form of male idiocy that should be prohibited. By the same token the Marathon dancer of either sex should be restrained by law from indulging in the foolish hazards of long-time dancing.

Virgin In Its Development

Pasadena Star-News.

California, in its modernized, all-around development, is a comparatively new state. In its early days of statehood interest was centered upon gold mining, upon farming the great ranches and in such commerce as naturally would come to and go from this section.

The era of intensive development of agriculture and horticulture; the era of diversified manufacturing; the era of upbuilding of cities and towns and instituting of great public works, is of recent beginning. This makes the developmental progress of this state all the more remarkable. California is essentially virgin in this intensified, modern development.

What the last three decades have witnessed in development of this nature the next three decades doubtless will far outstrip. For this development is cumulative. California is more prominently in the eyes of the world today than ever before. Its advantages are better known, its opportunities are better understood and appreciated.

Honors Memory of Joaquin Miller

San Francisco Chronicle.

A bust of Joaquin Miller, California poet, was unveiled a few days ago in the studio of Gertrude Boyle, New York sculptress. The bust is to be placed by the California Society in the poet's cabin, now located at Rock Creek Park, Washington, D. C. Miss Boyle is said to be the only sculptor who modeled Miller while he was living. He posed in the familiar sombrero and careless rustic style of dress characteristic of the Poet of the Sierra.

When we learn how the people of other states and of the various countries of Europe honor the memory of Joaquin Miller, we are prone to wonder whether poets, like puffers, are not without honor save in their own country. Far too many of us in California have failed to keep green the memory of this picturesque pioneer of early California. What ever the merit or lack of merit of his poems from a literary standpoint, he was essentially a lover of God's out of doors who told to the best of his ability of the wonders of California.

We have often pointed out that any business, whether it be a municipal government or not that hires people to take care of many thousands of dollars and pays less than a common laborer's salary, is terribly short sighted in its point of view.

What Builds Business

San Bernardino Sun.

Business competition is coming back into the world with a vengeance, and the merchant, manufacturer or banker who expects to get ahead from now on must fight his way upward, declares George Woodruff, Chicago banker, in an address before the South Dakota Bankers' Association.

San Bernardino business men will profit by reading what this clever banker and business man has to say.

Advertising, Mr. Woodruff asserted, is the most effective of all weapons in the fight for business and among the various kinds of advertising, newspaper advertising is unquestionably the "big Bertha" of them all. Said he:

First you must secure interest. Your advertisement must be so well laid out, so attractively worded, so compelling in appearance, it will secure the reader's interest.

Secondly, you must create in the mind of your prospect the desire to patronize your bank and make use of the service it offers. You must show how and why it is advisable from the reader's viewpoint to save money.

Granting that your advertisement has aroused interest and created desire, if it is to obtain maximum results, it must breathe and inspire enthusiasm over saving money, over paying bills by check or protecting their valuables by a safety deposit box so that they will be ready to put their desire into action. Before your advertisement may be considered a success it must compel action.

Furthermore, the same rule applies as in all other fields of endeavor. Don't advertise spasmodically. Regularity and continuity of purpose in advertising pays the highest dividends.

Worth While Verse

THE ROAD AHEAD

A traveler stopped in the dusty road
And rested from his heavy load;
He saw an old man passing near
And asked: "What sort of road runs here?"

"For all day long I've trudged away
And oft grown weary of the day
As 'neath my feet the rocks upturned
And o'er my head the hot sun burned."

The old man said: "Just as you came You'll find that yonder road's the same."

Then came a youth so blithe and gay
And asked: "How travels yonder way?
For since the morning sun gleamed bright I've wandered 'neath its cheering light."

"And, oh, the birds sang merrily
While 'e'en the wild flowers smiled at me,
And perfumed breezes cooled the way.
So how is yonder road, I pray?"

The old man said: "Just as you came

Mere Prejudice

By Berton Braley

The guy who says, "See!" I don't mind;

Nor he who says, always, "You know!"

But there is one type of mankind Which causes my temper to glow—

And that's the gazabo, the bird or the bean, Who's constantly saying, "You know what I mean?"

"I'm wondering whether—you what I mean?"

This uncertain weather will stay on the scene?

I feel like a winner all peppy and keen,
I've just had my dinner—You know what I mean?"

With rising reflection he uses this phrase
And keeps on repeating it all of his days,

Till, though I'm a person well poised and serene,
I feel I must kill him—"You know what I mean?"

"That girl is a pippin—you know what I mean?"

She sets my heart skippin', she sure is a queen!

The grass keeps on growing—its color is green,
The wind's always blowing—you know what I mean?"

So sentence by sentence and time after time
And whether the subject be gay or sublime

This phrase he repeats without reason or rhyme,
This constant, "You know what I mean?"

The guy who repeats "Understand!"

With every remark that he makes, is one that should promptly be canned;

But greatest of human mistakes is that pesky bozo or blimbo or bean

Who ends every sentence, "You know what I mean?"

JIM O'BRIEN'S LINES.

The charter election left some thrills. At least it had some such effect on our friend Jim O'Brien, once upon a time street superintendent of the esteemed city of Santa Ana, and, according to rumor, likely to be again.

Whatever else may be said concerning Jim O'Brien, it is certain that nobody ever suspected him of writing sonnets and epics and ballads and other such things. He is known as a builder of houses, but he has kept his ability at carving out verses quite to himself.

Then along came this charter election. The intense excitement of it must have gotten next to Jim's itching forefinger, for he up and wrote a "pome;" yissir, a regular go-get-em four-verse creation.

If you don't believe it is all "them things what I have said," read it:

JUST A CHORD ON THE OLD BANJO—

There's a Wanderer in our City
And Charter is his name.
He gets tickled in every fight he has
But he comes back just the same.

He gets a few freeholders
To arrange another match;
Then he sets 'every Charter Hen he's got

And not a confounded egg will hatch.

We cannot blame the Voters
For handling him so rough For I guess they think the same as you and I,
What we got is good enough.

Today, Charter's going swimming
And the water is over his head.
As this will make his third time to go down.

For the love of Mike, let's all pronounce him DEAD, DEAD, DEAD!

AND HERE'S THIS ONE.

If the fate of the charter inspired Jim O'Brien to commit poetry, Clyde Bishop cannot be blamed for making facetious remarks. Bishop as special counsel for the board of freeholders had a large hand in drawing up the legal phraseology of the charter. He was convinced that the charter was inevitably and everlastingly right, and said so on numerous occasions.

Yesterday morning, Bishop made this sage remark to The Staff: "I am convinced, after due deliberation, that the people of Santa Ana do not want a charter."

Whereupon The Staff bethought himself of a tale, and it is here related: "There was a man all lit up at an upstairs dance. He caused a row, and was thrown out. He went back. This time they seized him by the seat of the trousers and the collar and threw him downstairs. He got up again, and climbed to the dance hall. This time they picked him up and threw him out of the window. He landed on the sidewalk, looked around knowingly, and said, 'Shay, you can't tell me they want me up there.'"

They used to tell that story on Billy Bryan. They could tell it on Clinton Imes.

BY J. N. TINCHER

U. S. Representative From Kansas, Seventh District.

ANY years ago a Kansas couple bought a farm, on which they paid down all their savings, giving a mortgage for the rest of the purchase price.

The land agent's commission amounted to a considerable sum and the farmer's wife objected strenuously to paying it.

Crops were bad and the couple lost the place by foreclosure.

Years passed. Luck changed. The pair prospered. Finally they bought another farm. This time the wife specified in advance that no commission should go to anybody. She considered it bad luck.

The lawyer who drew up the deed and mortgage acceded to her request, and the wife seemed satisfied, but when she and her husband returned home, she found under the notarial seal these words:

"My commission expires Sept. 16, 1933."

And it took the lawyer and her husband months to convince her that something hadn't been put over on her.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 7—A BATTLE

The army of wooden soldiers in Bing-Bang Land stood waiting. General Nick stood at their head.

Nurse Nancy sat quietly in her ambulance.

Up in the air floated the army balloon, tied to the end of a string. Private Ram Rod was in it (or under it) watching.

Bye and bye a little parachute came fluttering down from the balloon with a stone and a note tied to it.

General Nick opened the note and read:

"Tin soldiers getting ready for battle. Army of red tin soldiers on right. Blue tin soldiers on left. Cavalry in middle. Big guns behind."

General Nick folded the note and stuck it in his pocket.

"Captain Buttons," he called. Captain Buttons stepped forward.

"Pass around the shooting crackers and give each man a torpedo," said the commander.

"Yes, sir," said Captain Buttons saluting.

"Major Starch Front!" called General Nick next.

"Yes, sir!" said Major Starch Front stepping out and saluting.

"Give each man a pop gun."

"Very good, sir," replied the major.

Soon the army was ready for battle.

The flag bearer waved his flag and the drummer beat his drum and General Nick stood very straight with his sword over his shoulder. Suddenly he called out, "Forward! March!"

The army stepped out. "Charge!" cried the general. The army ran.

As soon as they saw the enemy, General Nick gave the order to fire.

Torpedoes, fire crackers and popguns did the work.

Soon not a tin soldier or tin horse was standing. The wooden soldiers captured the cannon and dragged them away, also they captured some prisoners.

"Hooray! We've won," they cried.
